Bardstown worker killed in Springfield accident

BRAD BOWMAN
bbowman@lcnr.com

A Springfield man who worked in Bardstown was killed Sunday in a two-vehicle collision in Springfield.

Joseph Linton, 42, was killed in a two-vehicle collision that occurred at 12:14 p.m. The accident happened when Michael Benedict, 17, Springfield, crossed the eastbound lane on Lincoln Park Road in a 2002 Chevy Pickup and collided with Linton's 1995 Ford Explorer. Kentucky State Police Trooper Jonathan Houk is investigating the collision.

Linton was not wearing a seat belt and was pronounced dead at Spring View Hospital in Lebanon. Benedict was flown to University of Louisville Hospital where he is listed in stable condition.

Linton, known to family and friends as "Jodie," worked at Bardstown's Toyota Boshoku, formerly Trim Masters Inc., for 10 years. According to family members, Linton was always busy with jobs and projects, but always had enough time to care.

"He always had side jobs. He did roofing, vinyl siding and almost any odd job," Stepdaughter Shaina Stivers said. "He loved his granddaughter, Sa'nya Barber. If you needed anything he was always there for you."

Stivers said he always treated her and her siblings like they were his own kids.

His wife, Dana, also worked at Toyota Boshoku. She said he will be greatly missed.

"Everybody knows Jodie," Linton said. "He was always so talkative. He got along with everybody."

Caption Contest

Being funny can win you some money from a local business. The picture above is the first entry in The Kentucky Standard's Facebook Funny Caption contest. If we pick your caption as the best, you win. For the next four weeks, The Kentucky Standard's Facebook fans will have the chance to win a $25 Wooden Duck Entertainment gift card — along with fame and fortune — and all fans have to do to win is just make a funny photo funnier. Visitors to The Kentucky Standard's Facebook page can check out a new photo posted every Friday, beginning March 9. These cute and quirky photos need quotes or captions to go along with them. Fans can write their best funny caption (keeping things PG, of course) on The Kentucky Standard's Facebook page by "commenting" on the photo. The contest closes each week at noon Thursday. That means this first round of the contest will wrap up at noon March 15. Then The Kentucky Standard staff will pick their favorite caption, and the winning caption will be printed with the photo on the Faces in the News page in Friday's newspaper. That winner will not only see his or her name in the paper, but will also win a gift card to Nelson County's only independent source of music, games and videos. Wooden Duck Entertainment is at 1002 Granite Drive, Suite 3, off East John Rowan Boulevard in Bardstown. Go online today and post a funny caption for your chance to win.

Bloomfield citizen remembered for generous spirit

ERIN L. MCCOY

Even after Ben Long retired as the City of Bloomfield's public works supervisor, he would walk the same route almost every day: stop by Bart's Mart on the corner, swing by the water company office, then visit City Hall.

It wasn't required, of course. Long's last day after 26 years as public works superintendent was Dec. 31, 2011 — his last day supervising the water company, maintaining the city park, ensuring the roads were clear after a storm, assisting on civic improvement projects. But Long never seemed to take on these tasks because it was his job; he took care of Bloomfield for another reason.

"He spent his whole life in Bloomfield," City Councilman Denny Howard said. "It literally was his life."

But on Monday morning, his wife, Sally, along with friends Mike Simpson and Ann Lindle Simpson, walked in Long's footsteps instead. Long passed away at 4 a.m. Monday at Jewish Hospital in Louisville from complications after heart surgery.

"Right after he died — there's so much time that just stands still," said City Clerk Jean Jury, who knew Long for 30 years. "And when they left the hospital they decided to go touch the people that he met with every day."

Armed robber sentenced to 13 years

ERIN L. MCCOY

Despite pleas from family members that the robber of a Bloomfield drug store needed treatment for drug and alcohol addiction rather than a long prison term, William Ryan Keeton, 35, Harrodsburg, was sentenced to 13 years in prison Thursday.

Keeton pleaded guilty in January to the armed robbery of Snider Drug on Bloomfield's Main Street Oct. 10, 2011. He was sentenced by Judge Charles Simms to 13 years in prison for first-degree robbery, five years for first-degree fleeing/evading police (motor vehicle), five years for first-degree fleeing/evading police (on foot) and 12 months in jail for resisting arrest.

The charges are to be served consecutively to a two-year sentence for flagrant non-support in Jessamine County for a total of 15 years. Keeton must serve a minimum of approximately 11 years in prison, Nelson County Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Chip McKay said.

Court records state that on the morning of Oct. 10, Keeton entered Snider Drug

Bardstown man sentenced after abusing juvenile, wife found guilty of endangerment

ERIN L. MCCOY
emccoy@kystandard.com

A Bardstown man has been placed on the sex offender registry for life after abusing a juvenile on several occasions.

Dan Edward Atwell, 37, was arrested Sept. 26, 2011, after reports he was locked inside a house at 827 Bartley Ave. with a gun, possibly wanting to commit suicide. According to information at the time, a caller told police that Atwell did not want to go to jail on a Sept. 7 indictment warrant.

After 12 hours of surveillance on the house, the Nelson County Special Response Team broke down the back door and arrested Atwell.

Last week, Atwell was sentenced to two years in prison for three counts of first-degree sexual abuse and 12 months in jail for fourth-degree assault. The sex abuse counts were to run consecutively for a total of six years, and concurrently with the assault count.

Dan E. Atwell

Judy Atwell

However, Atwell was granted probation for his full sentence for a period of five years, following set conditions that include serving in Nelson County Jail until March 28, having no contact with the victim and remaining out of Nelson County.

Dan Atwell's wife, Judy Atwell, 42, Bardstown, was also sentenced in Nelson Circuit Court last week for endangering the juvenile Dan Atwell abused by allowing her in his presence.

Judy Atwell was sentenced to two years in prison for intimidating a participant in the legal process and 12 months in jail for endangering the welfare of a minor. The sentences were to be served concurrently for a total of two years, but she was granted probation for a period of five years following set conditions, including having no contact with the victim while she is a juvenile, admitting neglect in a District Court action, and undergoing a mental health assessment.

Dan Atwell reportedly touched the juvenile's breasts on several occasions, and once grabbed her by the neck and pushed her.

Court records state that Judy Atwell had been notified of the sexual abuse on one or two occasions, yet still permitted Dan Atwell to be around the juvenile. She also reportedly asked the juvenile to lie in court.

Nelson County Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Chip McKay and Bardstown Police Chief Rick McCubbin confirmed Dan Atwell was not charged with any crime in connection with his stand-off with police.

"Unless he actually physically were to fight any of the officers we wouldn't put that on him, and he didn't," McCubbin said.

Man gets 4 years after assault on woman

ERIN L. MCCOY
emccoy@kystandard.com

A Louisville man was sentenced to four years in prison for assault under extreme emotional disturbance.

A motion for probation from Bryan Anthony Branham, 29, was denied on the grounds it would unduly depreciate the seriousness of the crime.

Branham was ordered to have no contact with the victim, who claimed he sexually assaulted her twice in March 2011. He was ordered to have no contact with the victim.

Branham entered an unconditional plea of guilty on the assault charge, which was amended down from a first-degree rape charge.

The amended charge was approved by the victim in the case, Nelson County Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Chip McKay said.

"It was based on the wishes of the victim. She did not wish to go through a trial," he said.

It is often difficult for victims to testify in sexual assault and rape cases because "they're putting very private business out in public," McKay said.

The term "under extreme emotional disturbance" implies that some action incited the assault, and amends what would be a class B felony down to a class D felony, McKay explained.

Branham was not convicted of any sexual offense and will not be placed on the sex offender registry.

Men suspected in plow, scrap metal theft

ERIN L. MCCOY
emccoy@kystandard.com

Two men arrested in connection with the theft of a plow from a field near Thomas Nelson High School are suspected in a Spencer County scrap metal theft ring.

Timothy R. Richardson, 28, Bardstown, and Jason R. Mink, 30, Mount Washington, were arrested around noon Monday and charged with receiving stolen property.

A press release from Bardstown Police alleges the men were connected with the theft of a plow belonging to Land Enterprises of Bardstown from a field off KY 245, near the Thomas Nelson High School construction site. The 800-pound plow was stolen from a farm Monday morning and allegedly sold as scrap metal at Waddell's Recycling for $99.

But according to Bardstown Police Detective Lynn Davis, Waddell's had been asked to keep a lookout for Richardson by the Spencer County Sheriff's Office.

Timothy R. Richardson

Jason R. Mink

"They're conducting an investigation of stolen metals and they had a suspect, Timothy Richardson," Davis said.

"When something just doesn't look right they're very good about calling us," Bardstown Police Chief Rick McCubbin said of Waddell's.

Richardson and Mink allegedly lied to police upon initial questioning at the police department, then changed their stories and admitted to the theft of the plow, the press release states.

Bardstown Police are working with Spencer County authorities to determine their connection with a ring of scrap metal thefts based in that county.

Spencer County Sheriff's Dep. Tim Montgomery confirmed that he expected to make additional arrests in the case. He said early Tuesday afternoon that he did not want to discuss the scope of the thefts or who may be involved until those arrests were made.

Most of the thefts happened in Spencer County, Davis said.

A 1998 Dodge Durango SUV and a small trailer it was pulling were seized by Bardstown Police, who stated they will hold the property until final disposition of the investigation. A small amount of marijuana was allegedly found inside the vehicle.

Richardson was additionally charged with possession of marijuana. Both men were lodged in the Nelson County Jail.

One injured in head-on collision

A New Haven man was injured after an oncoming car reportedly drove into his lane Friday afternoon.

The accident occurred around 5:09 p.m. near the 4.92-mile marker of Roberts Road, according to Nelson County Sheriff Stephen Campbell.

Charles R. Hood, 19, was transported to Flaget Memorial Hospital with possible injuries to his legs and/or feet, Campbell confirmed.

The accident occurred as Marion M. Brown, 67, Bardstown, was driving her 1998 Honda CRV EX northbound on Roberts Road.

"Apparently the sun's glare was responsible for Ms. Brown not being able to see — evidently came around a curve and the sun was in her eyes and couldn't tell what side of the road she was on and struck the other unit head on," Campbell alleged.

A passenger in Hood's 1994 Honda Accord was not transported to a medical facility, and Brown turned down transport as well.

Traffic stop helps lead police to three arrests

One suspect found in car stolen from Bardstown

THOMAS BARR
Landmark News Service

SHEPHERDSVILLE — A simple traffic stop has led to the arrest of three individuals allegedly involved with the theft of items approaching $100,000 at the Awesome Flea Market in January.

And that investigation may also lead to law enforcement officials solving crimes in other counties.

The Bullitt County Grand Jury indicted Peter J. Barth, Allen D. Hodge and Stafford B. Maraman on various theft-related charges.

The charges result from the Jan. 29, 2012, burglary where items such as coins, were taken from vendors.

According to Sgt. Troy Armstrong, public information officer for the Shepherdsville Police Department, said that when police pulled over Peter John Barth IV, it was determined that he was in possession of a stolen vehicle from Bardstown.

When officers looked inside the vehicle, they saw items that had been reportedly stolen from the flea market.

Barth, 31, Shepherdsville, who also had an outstanding arrest warrant from another county, was charged with burglary.

Also charged with burglary was Allen Dwayne Hodge, 38, Shepherdsville.

Stafford Benjamin Maraman, 38, Shepherdsville, was charged with receiving stolen property and tampering with physical evidence.

Between midnight and 5:30 a.m. on Jan. 29, videotapes showed two men were inside the flea market, which is at Interstate 65 and Cedar Grove Road.

While in the facility, which was closed at the time, Armstrong said the men spent a long period inside.

They went to several vendors and took a large number of items, including coins. They also damaged property.

The vendors estimated the losses to be around $95,000.

Once Barth was arrested, Armstrong said the case continued to develop and enough evidence was found to charge and arrest the other two men. He said Maraman allegedly had stolen items in a storage facility.

At this time, Barth is in the Bullitt County Detention Center and the owners of the merchandise are identifying their items and estimating the value of each.

Armstrong said a lot of items had been recovered but he expected more to be found.

"We don't believe this is all of it," said Armstrong, who said the investigation is still on-going.

The victims were pleased to find out the items had been recovered. For one, the coins he sold were his retirement.

At this stage, no one admitted any part in the robbery. Flea market operators are making some changes to the security system, said Armstrong.

Outside of the theft, Armstrong said law enforcement officials were concerned that they recovered a bullet-proof vest, ammunition and rifles from the suspects.

Anyone with additional information should call the Shepherdsville Police Department at 921-1000 or the anonymous tipline at 215-1588.

property. Conditions of the diversion include paying restitution to the victim. According to court records, Murphy was found in possession of a motorcycle stolen from a Willisburg man. Murphy claimed he had bought the bike from a man at a gas station. Murphy entered an Alford plea of guilty, meaning he asserts his innocence while admitting sufficient evidence exists to likely convict him.

Giving a helping hand when it's needed most

Just two weeks ago on this very page, we urged you to “Be a Hero” and support the Nelson County Red Cross during its first grassroots fundraising campaign. And boy, did the community respond, with more than $27,000 donated to help when disaster strikes. Only two days later, tornadoes touched down throughout Kentucky and Indiana, wiping out entire communities, killing more than 20 people and thrusting our region into another natural disaster. One of the first agencies to respond in those ravaged torn communities — the local American Red Cross. The immediate response to this disaster just solidifies what we already knew — we are prepared to help those victims during their time of need.

Just one look at the photos of West Liberty or Henryville, Ind., and you'll see that there is literally nothing untouched in these small towns. Businesses, homes, churches and government buildings are not just damaged but destroyed. It makes your heart ache for the people in those regions and makes all of us want to reach out with help in some way.

We applaud the Nelson County businesses, individuals, churches and civic organizations that have answered the call for help by coordinating local donation sites while providing transportation — individuals such as Jeremy Jones, who is working with Bumper to Bumper to collect donations and transport them with company trucks to the residents of Henryville and West Liberty. Jim and Katie Amburgey, owners of Mad Dash Courier, are also trying to make a difference by coordinating donation efforts with Parkway Baptist Church for delivery to tornado victims. Other groups such as the Sisters of Charity and the American Red Cross are encouraging people to give monetary donations so they can provide immediate basic needs such as shelter, food and clothing for the storm victims.

Whatever or however you decide to give, the message here is to help. This could have just as easily been Bardstown and Nelson County who suffered great losses last week if the jet stream had shifted south. The human spirit in us all is to reach out and help those in need. Let us all be reminded in this situation what could have and can happen at any time.

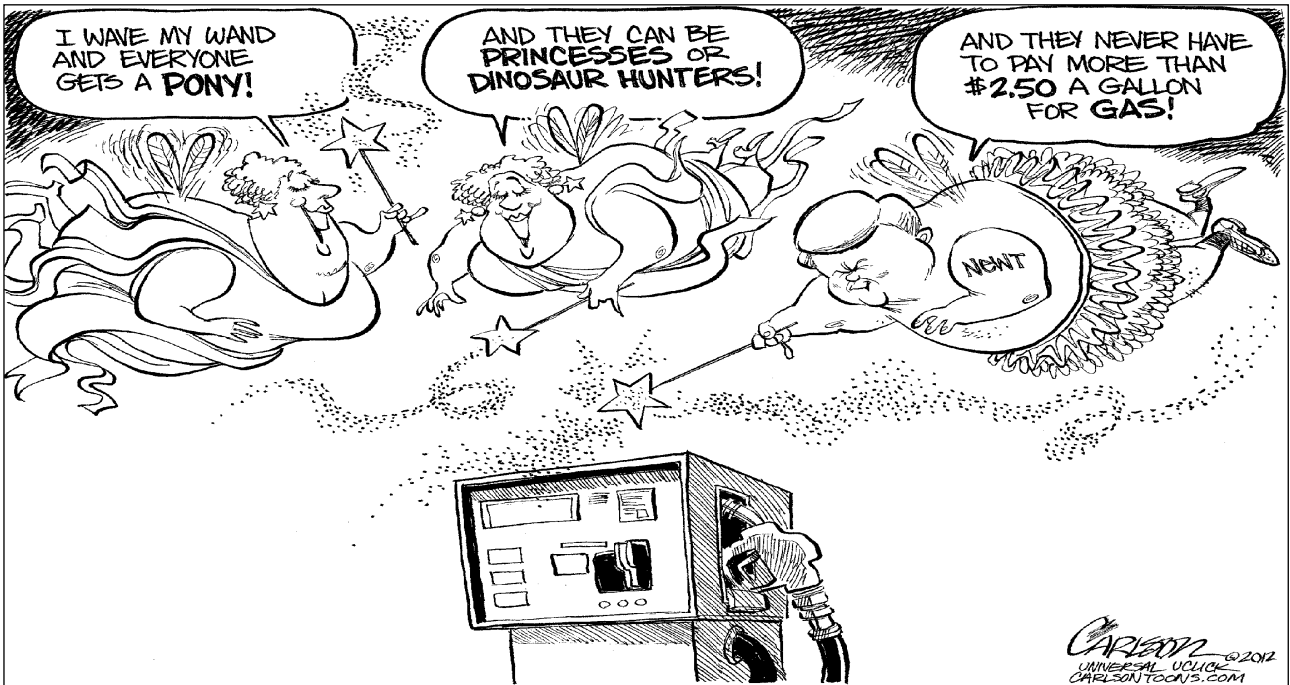

If you want to make a difference, you still have time to help. Donations of toiletries, furniture and supplies for babies are being collected through this Friday at Bumper to Bumper, 304 N. Fourth St., Bardstown. The American Legion Post No. 288 in Bloomfield is also accepting donations 4-8 p.m. Parkway Baptist Church will be collecting clothes, appliances, cookware, linens, canned food and any nonperishable items through this Thursday. The Nelson County Fair Board is collecting supplies at the Nelson County Fairgrounds daily 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at Samuels Hall through Friday. The group is requesting cleaning supplies, personal hygiene items, nonperishable food, dog and cat food.

If you would like to make a monetary donation, you may do so either through Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, SCN Volunteer Disaster Response c/o O.C.A., P.O. Box 9 Nazareth, KY 40048, or through the local American Red Cross office at 321 S. Third St., Bardstown, KY 40004, or go online at www.nelsoncountyyredcross.org for a credit card donation.

OUR VIEWS

A quick hello, history about me

Before I sat down to write this, a slew of emotions kept running through my mind. What do I say? What should I talk about? Is everything going to sound OK?

But then it quickly dawned on me, just take a couple deep breaths and don't think about it too much. Quit over-analyzing everything and just focus — typically Jennifer Corbett frame of mind.

First and foremost, I'm the new reporter/photographer at the Kentucky Standard. My fiancé, Michael, and I just moved to the area from Meade County. For the past two years, I was a reporter at The News Standard, a weekly paper in Brandenburg. There I covered features, youth, education, business, court news, school board and city council meetings — just to name a few. One memory that sticks out from my experience there was the Fourth of July weekend in 2011. Michael and I were on the way to a friend's house and saw a cloud of gray smoke near a local shopping center in Brandenburg.

At first, I thought nothing of it. Neither did Michael.

As we drove closer, our

JENNIFER CORBETT

REPORTER

assumptions were completely wrong. The entire shopping center, with seven businesses, was on fire. I was there before all the firefighters and police. Covering that story was an experience that was thrilling and disheartening, as more than 80 people lost their job that day, but luckily no one lost their lives.

Prior to my time at The News Standard, I went to school at Northern Kentucky University. I was a member of Theta Phi Alpha sorority and worked many deadline nights as the news editor and eventual editor in chief at the independent student newspaper, The Northerner. By December 2009, I walked across the stage to receive my bachelor's degree in journalism.

In all honesty, if this were 18-year-old me writing this, I wouldn't have imagined myself here. If it were up to younger me, I'd be working at a hospital as a nurse.

Prior to college, I thought I had my entire life figured out. I would graduate as a registered nurse, make lots of money and live happily ever after.

My thought process couldn't have been more wrong.

In a way, I guess the guy I was dating at the time knew me better than I knew myself.

I remember it clear as day. He sat me down in his backyard and told me point blank that he didn't agree with my choice of major. In a way, this discussion set everything into perspective for me. I was choosing to be a nurse for all the wrong reasons. It's amusing to think I used to force myself to watch the medical drama shows, though afterwards I would always feel nauseated.

I have always loved writing and composing fictional stories in my spare time, but I never really considered journalism as a career.

In the end, I'm glad my high school boyfriend had a talk with me, because the medical field just isn't meant for me. In reality, I don't really feel like I'm working when I go to my job. I get to go out into the community, meet people and essentially, tell their story and inform the public.

For most of my life, I've considered myself to be an inward person who likes to express myself through words. Although when it's time to get the job done for a story, my shyness is not a problem.

When it comes to my interests, my absolute guilty pleasure is celebrity news, entertainment news and popular culture. I love fashion news, reading tabloids, watching the entertainment news shows, making sure I watch and keep up with my favorite T.V. shows, watching movies and reading books.

I'm an animal lover at heart. I like to laugh and smile a lot. I'm my own worst critic, even when I shouldn't be.

But most of all, I do my best to keep a positive attitude and outlook on life.

Young people can give us hope

These are indeed challenging times, but a recent experience with some of our young people certainly cheered me up and on.

Late last month I traveled to our big city up north for four events (“Make the trip count” is one of my mottos). The third one was with 180 people, 4/5 of whom were middle and high school students.

The purpose of their convening: to devote almost four hours focusing on Haiti — the poorest country in our south/north hemisphere that makes steady if slow progress in recovering from a major earthquake in recent time.

These young people were from 30 schools (two of them high schools). Central Kentucky was represented by two schools. A good number of people from Haiti living in Louisville Metro provided real life information in a noon time panel and joined various tables of students for lunch (brown bag no less). Michael Biagi, Louisville office field representative for Senator McConnell, attended and participated in the panel and conferred with a small group of agency leaders and high school students during lunch.

SR. MARY SCHMUCK RSM

GUEST COLUMNIST
» schmuckrsm@scnazarethky.org

The panelists stressed the importance of education being fundamental to Haiti reconstruction. Certainly all aid needs wise conditioning and accountability.

Prior to the panel was a Skype conversation with a Catholic Relief Services staff person in Atlanta who often travels to Haiti. CRS has served in Haiti for more than 50 years.

With all that input and interaction, the students then engaged in what they can do back at school and elsewhere to keep remembering and helping our sisters and brothers in Haiti to rebuild their beloved country, its life and economy. The students wisely planned for ongoing sharing information about

Haiti and fund-raising, and praying for everyone so as to keep our hearts strong and focused on them. An interesting tactic several recommended: competing with others in the task.

Haiti is a great challenge. It was the first in our hemisphere to throw off slavery, but our government hundreds of years ago out of fear of freedom spreading undermined the new Haitian government. Haiti has struggled with such influence ever since. (Shall we talk about “sin history”....)

Our Catholic community has cause to be very proud of Catholic Relief Services, our national agency for international aid. It is a very highly respected nongovernmental organization, its nearly 5,000 staff serving currently in almost 100 countries (of 193 United Nations member states). CRS has long worked WITH people, not just for them, granted this approach sometimes “takes longer” but is more effective in the longer run.

During Lent our Catholic community collaborates with CRS in “Operation Rice Bowl.” It is powerful in its focus on five countries (1/week), a local story, an always delicious recipe from the country, connections from Scripture, social moral teaching and the Way of the Cross, and ways to connect an examination of our own lifestyle with ways to help persons in these countries through CRS. Haiti and India are featured countries this year.

It was very noticeable how different the tone of this Day for Haiti was from our national conversation about what is going on and what needs to be done to make things better. There was no tearing down anyone, no blaming anyone for everything or claiming that anyone has failed to do anything right at all. The students listened carefully to the presenters and to one another. Their focus was on Haiti and what was going one there, what Haiti needed, not building ourselves up. Such a wonderful sense of global community they demonstrated! The spirit was great between the generations — the students, adults in the room from Haiti and the United States.

Would that our current set of potential nominees for national office could spend some time with our young people deliberating and planning.

>>GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Kentucky stands with its tornado victims

FRANKFORT — By the time you read this, more than a week will have passed since the monster tornadoes targeted many of our communities. I want to tell the victims that you are not alone; Kentucky stands with you. The Red Cross has been overwhelmed with Kentuckians' generosity, so much so that it is now asking for cash donations instead of material items. I pray that the Lord continue to provide strength to those who have lost loved ones and possessions and also for the first-responders and other citizens who have worked unflinchingly in order to set right what nature has done her best to destroy. The Gateway Area Development District at 606-780-0090 has established a fund for tornado assistance and relief in Eastern Kentucky. Your local Red Cross is also accepting donations. And finally, the Kentucky Emergency Management website has a list of relief agencies that have been identified as serving Kentucky storm victims specifically, <http://kyem.ky.gov/donationsvolunteers/Pages/default.aspx>. Please, give what you can.

With the disaster weighing heavily on all our minds and reeling from the testimonials of constituents and legislators, the business of the Legislature continued under a somber cloud. There are three bills I want to briefly discuss. Senate Bill 88 makes an allowance for Kentucky high school students earning Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship, or KEES, money. Currently, students who transfer from an eligible to an ineligible high school in Kentucky or outside the state forfeit their KEES earnings. This bill would allow them to keep the KEES funds they earn while at the eligible school as long as they obtain a high school diploma or GED within two years of their presumed graduating class. It also may be of help to children whose parents are in the military because of their frequent moves.

JIMMY HIGDON
» STATE SENATOR
14th District

Senate Bill 58 addresses an increase in hospital emergency-room violence. Similar to the exception made for misdemeanor shoplifting and domestic-violence situations, the bill would allow police officers to make an arrest, based on probable cause alone, for misdemeanor assault occurring in an emergency room. Under current law, the police officer would have to witness the crime before being allowed to make an immediate arrest.

Senate Bill 157 aims to clarify the wording of administrative regulations. It provides for greater transparency and accountability of the many regulations that oftentimes bedevil small businesses.

In an effort to give the Kentucky Agricultural Finance Corporation more lending power, Senate Bill 108 gained unanimous support. The measure increases the maximum loan amount for established farmers (those who have owned a farm for at least a decade) fivefold, from the current $1 million to $5 million.

Finally, the House passed its budget proposal. As I have discussed, small budget groups have been meeting for several weeks now in anticipation. I have begun to review the document and while, as of this writing, I haven't delved into all of the details of this 288-page document, it is our understanding that the debt level is at 6.8 percent of General Fund revenues. This is a matter of great concern to me. It is my hope that the House would consider Senate Bill 1 which we passed to cap the state's debt at 6 percent. I will continue to keep you apprised of the situation.

We have 16 more days left. Contact me with any questions or concerns about these bills or any that we will be considering. You can call me at home at (270) 692-6945 or call the General Assembly's toll-free Message Line at 1-800-372-7181. We are on the Internet at www.lrc.ky.gov.

Once again, I ask that you keep the many Kentuckians affected by the storms in your prayers.

Note: Senator Jimmy Higdon (R-Lebanon) represents the 14th District including Marion, Mercer, Nelson, Taylor, and Washington counties. He serves on the Appropriations and Revenue Committee, the Licensing and Occupations Committee, the State and Local Government Committee, the Education Committee, the Program Review and Investigations Committee, the Tobacco Settlement and Oversight Committee, and the Transportation Committee. In addition, he is also the Chairman of the Budget Review Subcommittee on Transportation.

More changes need to be made to fire chief

To the editor:

I agree with the mayor when he said there should not be two fire chiefs. I also agree that the firefighters should not be the ones to elect the chief. I think the mayor should step aside and allow the board members or whoever controls the fire department, to adapt chapter 75 as it is written. Then start establishing the board of trustees by having the county judge make his three appointments to the board and the firefighters elect the two members of the fire department to the board. Then hold the election to elect two property owners to the board.

Even though the City of Bardstown is incorporated as a city the fire department could provide fire protection to the city as well as the county.

As an example: Jefferson County had 21 fire districts which is probably somewhere between 18 or 19 since some have been merged. Jeffersontown Fire Department, for example, provides fire service to the City of Jeffersontown and parts of the surrounding county. Middletown Fire Department provides protection to the city of Middletown and parts of the surrounding county.

Most all fire districts provide some protection to all of the small incorporated cities and these departments are managed by the board of trustees and the mayors have no control over the fire departments. I also believe the mayor and the county judge should be allowed to know how the money is spent even though they have no control over it because they represent the taxpayers. I also believe the department should be audited annually as even some members of the board tend to spend money beyond their authority.

As an example: When I was elected to the board of trustees of the Okolona Fire Department, the board members had voted to send the members of the board of trustees on a week's vacation along with their wives to Florida at the expense of the fire department and also provided department cars for them in which to travel.

The fire department also owed several hundred thousand dollars to National City Bank for equipment it had purchased. And instead of the bank taking the trustees to dinner and drinks, the fire department took the branch manager and her husband to dinner and drinks each year.

When I exposed some of the practices they were stopped. But in order for them to try to set up a smoke screen to divert the attention to something else they accused me of trying to destroy the Crusade for Children. Even I had made no mention of the Crusade. They failed.

I, being a retired police officer with 27 years of service, have believed the job of a firefighter was as dangerous or maybe more dangerous as a police officer's job. I believe firefighters should receive good benefits and should be paid well.

I would like to see the change in the fire department very soon and would be able to say job well done and wish them well.

>>NOTES OF THANKS

'Music with a Mission'

To the editor:
We, at The First Christian Church, want to thank everyone involved in making this fourth annual concert, "Music With A Mission" such a success. The artists who performed were outstanding. Performers included Wanda Lindsey; Kelly Harrison and "Young Men United"; David Kimberland and "Witness"; Dennis Bowling and "Bluegrass Friends"; Jean Catlett; and the youth from First Christian Church

(Disciples of Christ). Thanks to WBRT, PLG, and The Kentucky Standard for helping us get the word out. Many members at First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) worked hard putting this together — from donating refreshments to obtaining the talent; from advertising to making flyers, programs and brochures. We thank Roland Gabbert for giving a talk on Luther Luckett Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), an actual and only church inside prison walls in Kentucky. Last, but not least, we thank everyone who attended the concert and gave so generously. All the money donated goes to Kentucky Cornerstone Ministries in Beattyville, Ky. which is headed by Miss Dora Ross, and to Luther Luckett Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) inside Luther Luckett Correctional Facility in LaGrange, Ky. Thank you again and again.

Committed to Creating Healthier Communities

Saint Joseph and Flaget facilities' commitment to community outreach continues to be at the center of everything we do. We provided more than $48 million in charity care from July 1, 2010, through June 30, 2011. Combined with our various programs and services, we provided more than $81 million in outreach care for which limited or no reimbursement was received.

This represents who we are as a faith-based organization dedicated to creating healthier communities and advocating on behalf of those who are disadvantaged and underserved.

As a Catholic organization, we believe that everyone, regardless of their ability to pay, has the right to health care – it is a basic human right, not a privilege. This was our founding Sisters' mission more than a century ago and one that we are still called to live out today.

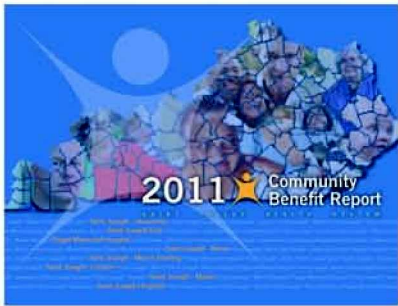

Thank you for your support as we continue our journey to transform health care across the state of Kentucky.

Community Outreach For People Who Are Poor

Prescription Assistance Program – Flaget Memorial Hospital (FMH) has an employee dedicated to coordinating the prescription assistance program, which serves people who otherwise could not afford to pay for their prescription medications. By utilizing the assistance options through pharmaceutical companies, the program is able to ensure patients get the medications they need at no cost. This enables the patients to better manage their health and avoids unnecessary utilization of high cost emergency department services.

If there is a gap between when the patient needs a medication and when the pharmaceutical assistance begins, the program includes a bridge through a voucher system with local retail pharmacies so people have immediate access to vital medicine. Last year 2,294 free prescription medications were distributed at a market value of $1,162,769. This comprehensive service walks patients through the application process and follows up with patients to make sure their long-term needs are met.

Other community outreach programs for the poor include: Nelson County Community Clinic, back-to-school supplies drive, food drive, Christmas family sponsorships, and donations of supplies and equipment.

Community Outreach For The Broader Community

Flaget Health Connection – The Flaget Health Connection provides holistic care programs to promote wellness for a healthy community. The program accounts for more than 2,500 visits annually through services such as free blood pressure checks daily, free glucose testing monthly, 55 Alive Driving Course annually and “Trim Down Bardstown” weight loss program annually. Other services consist of health and wellness information, referrals, and community social services referrals including prescription assistance, domestic violence shelters, rape crisis lines and mental health crisis lines. The health connection coordinator also publishes weekly health information articles in the local newspaper.

Other community outreach programs for the broader community include: annual Baby Fair, education of medical/paramedical professionals, and counseling/support groups.

Collaborative Efforts to Improve Community Health

FMH partners with the following organizations in a collaborative effort to improve the health of our communities: local parishes/churches and the Bardstown/Nelson County Ministerial Association, St. Vincent de Paul Society, American Heart Association, American Cancer Society, Community Action and March of Dimes.

“The motto of our foundresses, the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, is ‘the love of Christ impels us.’ As we celebrate 60 years of providing health care services to our community, it is that same love that impels us to care for people who are economically poor. In the last fiscal year we provided $7.9 million in quantifiable community benefit, which is a testament to our commitment to serve all people regardless of their ability to pay.”

Bloomfield citizens see sewage rate increase

Delinquent property tax notices to be mailed by attorney

BRAD BOWMAN
bbowman@cni.com

Bloomfield City Council was called to order with a moment of silence Monday for retired public works superintendent Ben Long who passed away Monday morning from complications from heart surgery.

“Bloomfield has lost a part of itself,” Mayor Rhonda Hagan said.

Despite this difficult loss for Bloomfield, Hagan was able to curb an anticipated sewage rate increase for Bloomfield citizens.

The City of Bloomfield’s wastewater improvement project includes building a force main to the City of Bardstown. After researching the best financing for the city, the rate increase will go up 143 percent. The projected sewage rates would have been four times the present amount of $6.28 for 2,000 gallons and now will cost citizens $14.32 for 2,000 gallons per month. The mayor studied several financing options, which called for an initial rate increase of $25 per 2,000 gallons. Hagan secured a 3 percent loan rate with Rural Development. As a loan requirement, the city had to adopt the 43 percent rate to meet costs of maintenance, repair and operation.

In addressing cost and operation issues, concerns over how to resolve delinquent property were on the agenda.

The Council decided delinquent property tax notices would be mailed to property owners from the city attorney with official letterhead and notify them if taxes were not paid a lien would be filed against the property within 30 days. In reading the delinquent taxes, it was noted that the highest unpaid bill totaled $268.31. All fees will include collection costs.

The Council is looking further into a Transportation Enhancement grant and how it could be used in Bloomfield. The grant has specific guidelines for use

Former LaRue teacher’s sex abuse case proceeds to grand jury

Judge says finding of probable cause was a 'close call'

SARAH BENNETT
Landmark News Service

Hardin District Judge Kim Shumate found probable cause Monday in the sexual abuse case against former LaRue County High School teacher Natalie C. Gentry but said the decision was “a close call.”

A preliminary hearing specifically focused on the first-degree sexual abuse charge, the only felony charge against the 33-year-old Hardin County resident. Gentry also faces counts of second-degree official misconduct. The charges stem from alleged encounters with two male LaRue County High School students, one a 17-year-old and the other 18.

During testimony Monday, Kentucky State Police Detective Aaron Gabhart told the court a LaRue County High School official initially reported the complaint to him. After rumors spread at the school, assistant principal Rodney Armes confronted the 17-year-old, who allegedly told officials he had sexual intercourse with Gentry.

Gabhart said he spoke with the teen at the district’s central office and was told the consensual contact occurred in summer 2011 in Gentry’s bedroom at her home in Elizabethtown. The 17-year-old told the detective it was a one-time encounter and occurred while he was working for her.

During the course of the investigation, Gabhart said he learned of the 18-year-old student who claimed to have had sexual intercourse with the teacher on multiple occasions during the course of several months.

The detective said he has no physical evidence in the case.

Gabhart said Gentry’s husband, during a phone interview, advised him the former teacher admitted to having sex with two students. The detective told the court he called Gentry’s husband after he reported a verbal domestic incident to a sergeant at Kentucky State Police Post 4 in Elizabethtown that stemmed from the allegations against his wife.

Gabhart said he also took corroborating statements from two students who were present in Gentry’s home during several encounters between the 18-year-old and the teacher.

According to these students, they spent the night at

Man damages police car in alleged attempts to escape

A Bardstown man reportedly damaged the back of a police car and had to be tased after being arrested for a domestic disturbance Saturday.

A victim at a residence on Ashberry Drive allegedly showed visible injuries when Bardstown Police arrived about 9:43 p.m. Police determined that Rocky Thornsberry, 30, had violated a domestic violence order, according to a press release from the Bardstown Police Department.

The victim’s injuries were minor, Bardstown Police Chief Rick McCubbin said.

Thornsberry allegedly resisted arrest, and once

Maj. Ray Lewis placed him in the back of the patrol car, became violent.

“All his aggression came once he was in the car,” McCubbin said.

Thornsberry allegedly hit his head repeatedly against the patrol car screen, and kicked the rear door of the patrol car, breaking out a window and bending the upper portion of the door frame. The press release states he seemed to be trying to escape the vehicle.

By the time Lewis stopped the car, Thornsberry “was coming out of the window,” McCubbin alleged.

Lewis tased Thornsberry and transported him to the Nelson County Jail without further resistance, according to the press release. He was charged with first-degree criminal mischief, violation of a domestic violence order, fourth-degree assault, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

A mug shot of Thornsberry shows apparent bruising or injury to his face.

“His injuries were from his domestic fight,” McCubbin said.

The police department will seek restitution from Thornsberry for several hundred dollars’ worth of damage to the police cruiser, according to McCubbin.

Ex-deputies receive 50-month sentences

JESSE OSBORNE
Landmark News Service

Two former Washington County sheriff’s deputies were sentenced to 50 months in a federal prison on March 7 at the Gene Snyder United States Courthouse in Louisville.

Norris Wayne Bartley, 44, and Billy Joe Mattingly, 42, both of Springfield, will serve more than four years in prison, followed by a three-year term of supervised release, according to a press release from the U.S. Attorney’s office.

Both men pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

According to the press release, the men avoided a jury trial by entering guilty pleas to carrying a firearm during and in relation to a federal drug trafficking crime.

“Bartley and Mattingly were in uniform and on duty as Washington County deputy sheriffs when, acting on information from a confidential informant working for the Kentucky State Police, they seized approximately 30 pounds of marijuana, intending to keep it and sell it rather than to properly impound it for law enforcement purposes,” according to the release.

Defense attorney Elmer George, who represented Bartley, said the men will have to serve at least 85 percent of the sentence.

He said they would likely serve approximately three years, then spend the rest of the sentence in a halfway house.

George said the judge who ruled the case, John G. Heyburn II, couldn’t order where the men would spend their sentences.

He did, however, recommend the Federal Correctional Institution in Manchester, according to George and the sentencing transcript.

George also said Bartley and Mattingly would report to the appointed institution via voluntary surrender.

The former deputies will receive a letter that outlines the date, time and place they are to report to. It will be up to them to report to prison.

George estimated they would remain out of prison for another four to six weeks.

Both men showed remorse at the sentencing.

Mattingly, according to the transcript from the sentencing, said he was broke and he “just couldn’t see daylight anymore.”

“There’s a lot of good people that do bad things they get in a stressful situation, and that’s where I was at,” he said. “And if I could take it all back, I would.”

He also added that he was willing to comply with whatever sentence was handed down.

“Whatever you tell me, that’s what I’m going to do,” he said. “I’ve still got a family, and when it’s all over, I’m going back home to them.”

Bartley echoed Mattingly’s words.

“I just got in a spot I felt like there wasn’t no way out of,” he said. “I made a mistake. I’m going to have to pay for it.”

Bartley also apologized to his family and the court.

“I’m sorry I put everybody in this situation. I wish I could redo it, but I can’t,”

Local Republican party elects new leadership

BRAD BOWMAN
bbowman@cni.com

New officers were elected at the Republican Party of Nelson County's County Mass Convention Saturday at Bardstown High School new local and regional was chosen.

Robert Augustine was elected as chairman of the Nelson County Republican Party. Augustine hopes to build the party as a grass-roots-oriented organization.

"We all have a different view on the party," Augustine said. "My view is inclusive. We need to bring our voices together. The party isn't about anyone person, but about what Nelson County Republicans want to do and where they want to take us."

Augustine considers himself a constitutional conservative and sees social networking as a way to steer the party towards a more visible entity.

"I want our party to have an open door policy for anyone," Augustine said. "I think I can bring different people together." Augustine's plan of action includes recruiting people that are good candidates, putting them in the primaries, and win them with coherent candidates.

"You have to identify the voters who would be for you and go actively door to door to bring your message to them," Augustine said.

Augustine reached out to local Tea Party member Alan Brown Jr. and they will host an open discussion with the Nelson County Tea Party at BJ's 7 p.m. Wednesday. Augustine "Not everyone will agree everyone that is part of the business, but I want to keep an open door policy for anyone whether they are a republican or not," Augustine said.

Twenty-three precinct captains were chosen, according to acting chairwoman of the Republican Party of Nelson County Jan Ballard.

"We had about 70 people attend," Ballard said. "We were pleased with participation and I think people are excited."

Harold Sneed was elected to Vice Chair, Danielle Chladek as secretary, Angela Gambriel as treasurer and Jessica Mudd to Youth Chair.

Persistent offender allegedly flees police

ERIN L. MCCOY
emccoy@kystandard.com

A Chaplin man faces multiple charges after allegedly fleeing police during a traffic stop Feb. 1.

Owen Lee "Petie" Maddox, 33, was indicted in Nelson Circuit Court last week for first-degree fleeing and evading police (on foot), second-degree fleeing and evading police (motor vehicle), operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs, first offense, second-degree disorderly conduct, no operator's license, possession of marijuana, speeding and first-degree persistent felony offender.

Bardstown Police Officer Andrew Riley attempted to pull Maddox over on Culpeper Street around 2 a.m. Feb. 1, according to Bardstown Police Chief Rick McCubbin.

"They went to pull him over and he took off, and really, we wouldn't classify it as a pursuit," McCubbin said, explaining that the road comes to an end quickly.

Owen Maddox

Once at the end of the road, Maddox allegedly got out of his vehicle and started to curse and fight Riley.

"He kind of wrestled his way out and fled on foot," McCubbin said. "He ran down through that big valley (behind Wal-Mart) and came out into the Springhill subdivision a couple of hours later."

Police received a call from a Springhill subdivision resident that a man was asking to come in their house.

"About three hours later somebody called that he was banging on their door," McCubbin said. Police allegedly found Maddox hiding in a storage building behind a Springhill residence.

Maddox was previously convicted of complicity to second-degree assault, first-degree wanton endangerment, complicity to first-degree trafficking in a controlled substance and other charges.

The indictment of a person by a grand jury or otherwise is an accusation only and that person is presumed innocent unless proven guilty.

One injured in wreck near Bloomfield

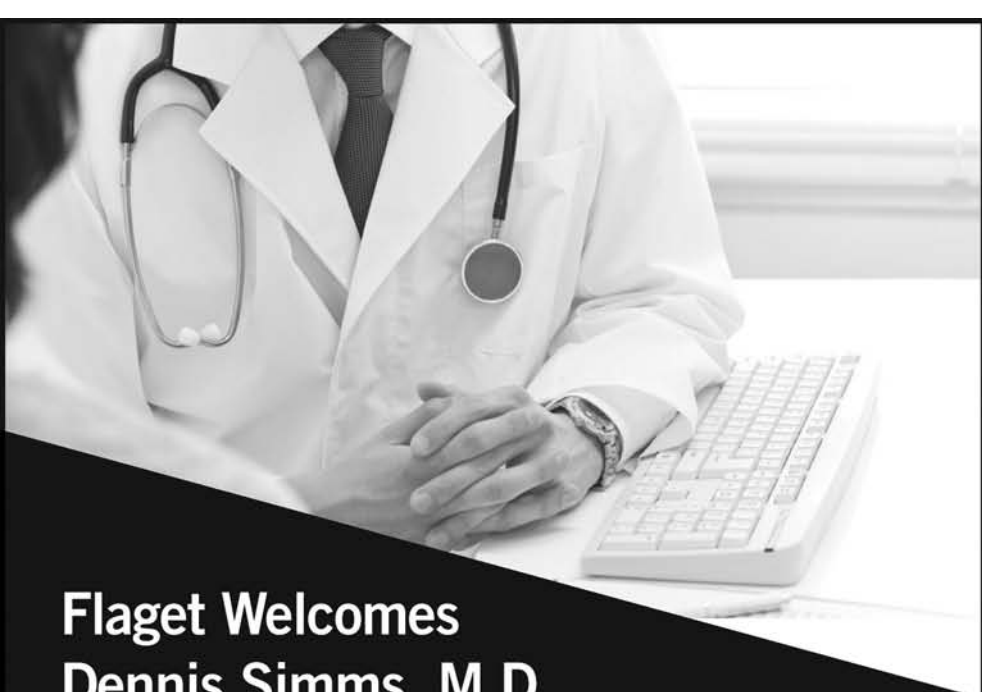

STAFF REPORT

One person was transported to University Hospital in Louisville after a car accident on Springfield Road near Bloomfield Monday evening.

The Kentucky Standard was unable to learn the identity of anyone involved in the wreck by press time Tuesday.

However, Nelson County EMS confirmed it made a non-emergency transport from the accident.

The accident took place in the S-curve on Springfield Road, KY 55, about 11:12 p.m. The Nelson County Sheriff's Department and Nelson County EMS responded to the scene.

Rain clouds gather Jan. 13 over the much-needed Rigger K-Span flood mitigation project designed on short notice and completed by the 533rd Engineer Detachment Forward Engineer Support Team-Main before the beginning of the annual rainy season at Kandahar Airfield, Afghanistan. The repair project was required to solve a drainage problem that developed around the two buildings previously constructed near the then undeveloped southwest end of the airfield.

Engineers deployed from Fort Knox complete 220 projects in Afghanistan

KANDAHAR Airfield, Afghanistan — Members of the 533rd Engineer Detachment, Forward Engineer Support Team-Main have completed 220 engineering projects in Afghanistan since deploying April 4 from Fort Knox. The count is continuing.

The 533rd FEST-M is a flexible, self-sustaining expeditionary engineering asset task-organized to conduct technical engineering and construction management in combat or contingency environments. The 30 persons deployed include military and civilian team members from various disciplines.

Manned by personnel willing and able to take on challenges that had previously delayed execution of critical projects, the 533rd FEST-M quickly became the “go-to” source for rapid design of Battle Space projects throughout Afghanistan.

On Jan. 13, 533rd FEST-M engineers were recognized by Col. Lawrence Kominiak, 7th Sustainment Brigade commander for the on-time completion of a much-needed repair project to mitigate flooding around two Rigger K-Span buildings previously constructed near the then undeveloped southwest end of the Kandahar Airfield.

“As airfield development continued southward over the years, drainage problems increased around these two buildings,” Chief Engineer Charles Oliver said. “We developed a concrete flood wall around the buildings with ramps allowing vehicle access and underground drainage to handle run-off outside the wall and rainfall within the protected area,” he continued.

The rains came and the design worked as planned.

The 533rd FEST-M expects to redeploy to Fort Knox around April 1.

Bardstown to flush water main March 14

The City of Bardstown will be flushing water mains March 14 on the east side of downtown Bardstown (Second St., John Fitch and Flaget area).

This may cause some discoloration of water and some trapped air in lines.. It is suggested that you not wash any clothes during these times. If some of this discolored water gets into your home, let your tap run for approximately ten (10) minutes. If discoloration or air persists, call the City of Bardstown at 348-5947.

Beer sales total more than $300,000 in first two weeks

Elizabethtown council hears ABC report

MARTY FINLEY
Landmark News Service

ELIZABETHTOWN — The first two weeks of beer sales in Elizabethtown were massive.

Alcoholic Beverage

Control Administrator Tom Reynolds told city council members that 27 outlets armed with beer licenses sold $313,941 worth of malt beverages between Dec. 14 and Dec. 31.

The number, which was outlined in Reynolds’ annual report, floored the Elizabethtown City Council and garnered some laughs.

“It was party town E’town, wasn’t it?” Councilman Marty Fulkerson said.

“It had been a long, dry spell,” Councilwoman Edna Berger joked.

Reynolds also told the council that one golf course and 24 restaurants had sold about $3.4 million worth of alcohol in 2011.

Reynolds said it is unclear if beer sales have remained as brisk in 2012 and he would be unable to gauge the trend until later in the year.

Film Movement Series at the public library

The feature film showing at 6 p.m. at the Nelson County Public Library on Tuesday, March 20 will be the Colombian film, Karen Cries on the Bus, directed by Gabriel Rojas Vera. This film was a an official selection of the Berlin International Film Festival and the Cartagena International Film Festival..

The film opens when Karen has left her slimy but successful husband, Mario, after 10 years of marriage. She needs a fresh start to find out who she is and who she could be, despite her husband’s proclamation that she can do absolutely nothing. She walks out into Bogota with no job, no friends, and hardly any money, but catches a break when she meets Patricia, a hair-dresser at a cheap flophouse. With her younger and seemingly stronger friend by her side, Karen takes her first steps toward independence and self-discovery.

The film is in Spanish but is subtitled in English. The movie is not subject to rating by the MPAA and is not recommended for anyone under age 17 without parental permission. The film lasts about 98 minutes.

Bardstown native to direct NJ premiere of Proposition 8 Play on Montclair State Stage

A one-night-only staged reading of 8, the powerful play about the federal court trial contesting the Proposition 8 voter ban in 2008 on same sex marriage in California, will have its New Jersey premiere at Montclair State University on Saturday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Auditorium. 8 was first performed in New York City last September and premiered in Los Angeles earlier this month in a star-studded production that included George Clooney and Brad Pitt.

The play's director is Michael Allen, a Montclair State assistant professor of Theatre and Dance, who was born and raised in Bardstown. He attended Bardstown High School and did his undergrad studies at Eastern Kentucky University. He has a master's degree from Tulane University and a master's Certificate from Seton Hall in Arts Management.

Headlining the New Jersey cast are television actor Roscoe Orman (Gordon from Sesame Street) as Ted Olson, co-counsel for the four plaintiffs; Broadway actor Jamie LaVerdiere (The Producers, The Pirate Queen) as David Boies, co-counsel for the plaintiffs; and Broadway actress Rachel de Benedet, Astaire Award-nominee (Catch Me If You Can), who portrays plaintiff Kris Perry.

Montclair State University President Susan A. Cole will read the part of Judge Vaughn Walker who ruled in 2010 that Proposition 8 was unconstitutional. His decision was upheld last month by the 9th US Circuit Court of Appeals, which heard an appeal filed by opponents of gay marriage.

Jeff Zarrillo, one of the four plaintiffs in the Proposition 8 trial and a Montclair State graduate, will return to campus to participate in a question-and-answer panel discussion after the performance, moderated by two-time Tony Award-nominee Gavin Creel.

Written by Academy Award-winning Milk screenwriter Dustin Lance Black, the play is based on the trial transcript, first-hand observations of the courtroom proceedings, and interviews with the plaintiffs and their families.

The staging of 8 is presented in conjunction with the American Foundation for Equal Rights (AFER) and Broadway Impact, which are licensing 8 to colleges and community theatres nationwide.

Tickets can be reserved in advance at <http://msu8thep-lay.eventsbot.com/> and the night of the performance on a first come, first served basis at the Memorial Auditorium box office.

Producers — Patrick King, a senior majoring in theatre production design at Montclair State University, and the University's Office of Equity and Diversity; Director — Michael Allen; Projection Designer — Steve McCarthy; Lighting Designer — Benjamin Lawrence; and Production Stage Manager—Lauren Pennington.

King, Lawrence, and Pennington are students at Montclair State; Allen and McCarthy are faculty members.

Montclair State University

Montclair State offers the advantages of a large university — a comprehensive undergraduate curriculum with a global focus, a broad variety of superior graduate programs through the doctoral level, and a diverse faculty and student body — combined with a small college's attention to students. montclair.edu

Gentry's home, sleeping in a separate room while the 18-year-old slept with Gentry in her bedroom, the detective said. The students reported noises from Gentry's bedroom, he said.

Gabhart told the court he met with Gentry, but she did not make any statements.

Defense attorney Rob Eggert argued Monday all alleged contact between Gentry and the teens was consensual, and the Kentucky law the former teacher is charged with violating uses the word "subjects," requiring "an element of coercion" or "implied coercion," he said.

He also argued the encounter with the 17-year-old occurred during the summer when school was not in session and Gentry had no influence over him. Furthermore, Eggert argued the commonwealth offered no evidence the two came into contact as a result of her job.

"There is no proof and they offered none," he said.

Assistant County Attorney LeShea Smith said the teen was working for Gentry at her home, giving her influence over him.

"They came into contact because she was a teacher at his school," Smith said. "She brought a student from her school to her home."

Though Shumate ultimately ruled the commonwealth met the burden of probable cause, she said it was narrowly met, indicating three issues Eggert raised about consent versus "subjects," the timing of the alleged encounter and whether the two came into contact as a result of Gentry's position.

"I want to give the grand jury and the commonwealth's attorney an opportunity to look at those issues," the judge said.

Gentry was fired from the high school in October after KSP began investigating allegations the English teacher engaged in sexual contact with male students. Superintendent Sam Sanders previously told The News-Enterprise that Gentry's contract with the school district was terminated for "immoral character" and "conduct unbecoming a teacher."

Gentry remains free on 10 percent of a $20,000 bond.

FEMA, senator visit storm-damaged LaRue

LINDA IRELAND
Landmark News Service

LaRue County suffered more than $1 million in damages during the Leap Day tornadoes. Despite the widespread damage that occurred from Tanner Road to Stiles Ford Road, however, it is small compared to what eastern counties can claim.

The front that tore through the Midwest between Feb. 29 and March 3 is responsible for 21 fatalities and more than 300 injuries in Kentucky, according to the Department of Public Health. Fatalities occurred in Laurel, Morgan, Kenton, Menifee and Lawrence Counties. Those counties, along with Pendleton and Johnson Counties, were included in a federal disaster declaration March 6 by President Barack Obama.

The residents of those counties may apply for federal disaster assistance in the form of grants for temporary housing, basic home repairs, other serious disaster-related needs and low-interest disaster loans, according to the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Gov. Steve Beshear has asked for federal assistance for 48 counties including LaRue.

"Based upon the known amount of damages, I have determined that this incident is of such severity and magnitude that effective response is beyond the capabilities of the state and the affected local governments and that supplementary federal assistance is necessary," he wrote March 4.

The governor's letter stated that shelters were set up, the Kentucky Army National Guard was dispatched to the area and law enforcement continues to patrol affected areas.

It's still uncertain whether LaRue County will qualify for FEMA assistance but local officials are continuing to press for the declaration.

Chris Jackson, E-911 Coordinator, met Saturday with representatives from Kentucky Emergency Management and FEMA.

He provided photos and written summary of homes and businesses that were damaged.

Duane Tuttle, who works with a preliminary damage assessment team for FEMA, said he will transmit his findings to Washington. A determination for disaster assistance will be made there.

"It's not an exact science, any of this," Tuttle said about the process.

State assistance also may be forthcoming.

Jackson said the county and city made emergency declarations immediately after the Feb. 29 tornado struck. Assistance was provided through the National Guard that week but more help may be on the way.

Friday afternoon, Sen. Carroll Gibson, R-Leitchfield, toured one of the hardest-hit areas in Hodgenville: KC Estates.

He said he wanted to see firsthand the damage caused by the two tornadoes. He wasn't able to meet with homeowners but he did speak with a couple of contractors who were assessing the damage on a home on Woebegona Way.

Gibson plans to propose legislation to offer relief to those residents who lost their homes in the tornadoes. It's too late to file a bill in the Senate, he said, but amendments can still be added.

"When talking to Judge/Executive Tommy Turner, he brought up a great proposal," said Gibson. "He suggested eliminating the state property tax this year for those individual homes and businesses declared to be in the disaster area. I thought it was a great idea and I would like him to bring the idea forward (in Frankfort)."

Another possibility is the elimination of the state sales tax on items needed in reconstruction of damaged homes, Gibson said.

"There is a lot of concern for the eastern side of the state in deaths and total destruction," Gibson said. "But when we get into these bills we want to be sure LaRue County will be included in it."

Gibson said his home county of Grayson also was hit by the storms but did not suffer as much damage as LaRue County.

U.S. Rep. Brett Guthrie plans a visit to the area Wednesday.

he said.

Heyburn told Bartley and Mattingly that he appreciated their comments.

"Regardless of the sentence, you'll both be young when you get out of prison," the judge said. "So, you'll have lots of time to redeem yourself to those who you've disappointed."

Heyburn said he was well-aware of the stressful situations that can cause good people to do bad things, however, he had stern words.

"Both of you were under a particular obligation, being sworn officers, to uphold the law and not to break it, and that's particularly important," he said.

According to the press release, the penalty for possession of less than 50 kilograms of marijuana with the intent to distribute is not more than five years imprisonment, with a fine of not more than $250,000 and a term of supervised release of not more than five years.

The release also noted that Bartley and Mattingly did not receive the maximum statutory penalty due to their voluntary pleas of guilty, the absence of any criminal record and their acceptance of responsibility and cooperation with the government.

They stopped by Bart’s Mart, the water company, then shared the news at City Hall.

“They just walked his path that morning,” Jury said, “waiting for the pastor to come.”

* * *

It’s hard to describe just how much Long has done for the Northeast Nelson community. Long’s oldest son, Brent Long, saw his father foremost as a role model.

“He was a very good man,” Brent said. “He never missed a Little League game — you know, that kind of dad. (He) participated in Cub Scouts with my brother and me.”

Yet even as a child, Brent saw that his father was not only a good dad, but a good member of the community. As a 35-year Northeast Nelson Fire Department volunteer, Long would receive calls at home whenever there was an emergency, and in fact, he was instrumental in getting the fire station built. Long also helped establish the pavilion and concession stand at Bloomfield Memorial Park and helped run water service out to rural areas of Northeast Nelson County, Jury said. He even served as mayor of Bloomfield from 1982 to 1985.

“The things people don’t know — whenever the power went out he would get up in the middle of the night to see where the problem was before KU [Kentucky Utilities] came,” Brent said. When it snowed, Long would clear the streets using a city plow for which he had helped obtain funding.

Brent said his father, most of all, felt a connection to the people of Northeast Nelson, with whom he’d spent his whole life.

“He was born right on the corner right down in town,” Brent said. His father owned a diner and cafeteria in Bloomfield called Long’s Grill. “He was originally from Bloomfield and as he got a little older his mother and father bought a 100-acre farm on the Spencer County line in Fairfield.”

Church in Fairfield, Long would do everything from fix electrical problems to perform with the choir.

“He sang in our choir, had a beautiful tenor voice, served on committees at the church, was a member of the parish council at one time,” Jury recalled.

Long didn’t just look ahead to the future of Bloomfield, however — he was also fascinated with its past.

“He was a great, avid collector of collectibles and antiques. He was an authority on that and he was very instrumental in keeping alive the history of Bloomfield going back to the days when the railroad was here. He had pictures of the different water company personnel that used to run the water company and how the water company evolved over the years,” Jury said.

Brent noted his antique oil lamps and scrapbook of newspaper clippings, while local historian Jane Cecil, who had known Long “since he was born,” pointed to his antique furniture, tools and dishes.

Long was married to Alice Hagan Long for 34 years, and they had three children: Brent Long, Tina Long and Matthew Long. Ben Long also had three grandchildren: Toby, Katherine and Benjamin Long.

Long’s three children still live in or near Northeast Nelson County, and for Brent, his father served as a guide on how a good life is lived. Brent served on the fire department alongside Ben for 20 years, and became involved with the church, just like his dad.

Alice suffered from multiple sclerosis for 15 years, and passed away four years ago.

“He stuck with her. He didn’t put her in a home or anything — just a dedicated husband,” Brent said.

In November 2011, Long married Sally Marks Long, a teacher and librarian at Bloomfield Middle School.

But soon after he retired, Long, who had been healthy for most of his life, learned he had heart problems. He underwent open-heart surgery last week.

“He was in recovery and then he went downhill, and he put up a fight but unfortunately, his heart was just weak,” Brent said.

The news came as a shock to much of Bloomfield.

Residents and friends remember Long as someone who was ready to help anyone at any time.

“He was a straightforward, upfront, hardworking guy,” Howard said. “I think there’s nobody you could probably find in town that he hasn’t helped somewhere along the line. We’ve lost big this time.”

In countless ways, Long kept the community close-knit and open-hearted. An outpouring of sentiment in Long’s memory on the Facebook page for the Historical Bloomfield organization provides some evidence of the number of people who cared for him — and the number of people of whom he took care.

“He was just the very thread of the community,” Jury said. “He wove his life in and out of the fabric of Bloomfield, from the history to the water to the park system, raising his family, through our church, all the community events that happened here. He was the thread that just kept weaving. Whatever success we came out with, he was the very thread that kept us all — kept the fabric going.”

wearing a bandanna over his face and demanded oxycodone, methadone and morphine. He reportedly told Jeanie and Steve King, co-owners of the store, that he had a gun inside a duffel bag he was carrying. That gun was later discovered to be a pellet or BB gun.

In a written statement for the Nelson County Sheriff’s Department, Steve King stated that when Keeton demanded the drugs, King gave him one box of narcotics, to which Keeton responded, “Is that all?” King gave him another box. As Keeton was leaving, he reportedly told the Kings to wait 10 minutes and then call their insurance company.

“I told the robber I would pray for him and he thanked me,” Jeanie King said in a written statement to police.

After Keeton left the store, Steve King reportedly ran outside to see Keeton driving away in a blue Kia. He called 911 and described the vehicle and its direction of travel.

The vehicle, later discovered to be stolen, drove toward the Blue Grass Parkway’s Bloomfield exit but was intercepted by Kentucky State Police Trooper Kevin Davis on KY 55, in the area of Tunnel Mill Road. Davis reported that Keeton doubled back toward Bloomfield, running the stop sign at KY 55 and KY 62 and once in Bloomfield, turning east toward Chaplin.

As Davis pursued, Keeton reportedly reached speeds of 100 miles per hour, passing other vehicles and driving in both lanes.

Keeton continued into Anderson County, and after an approximately 22-mile chase, reportedly lost control of his car in the area of Baxter Ridge Road, running off the right side of the road.

Davis reported that Keeton jumped out of his vehicle and ran into a nearby field, rifle in hand. Davis Tased Keeton while he was running, and when Keeton tried to get up, Davis used pepper spray, but Keeton grabbed Davis’ handgun by the grip. Davis punched Keeton several times in the head and was able to take him into custody.

Keeton was treated and released from a Frankfort hospital. Davis received scrapes and cuts to both arms, his right hand and his knee, and was treated and released from Flaget Memorial Hospital.

After the arrest, Nelson County Sheriff’s Department Detective Jonathan Snow reportedly collected evidence at the scene of the accident, including thousands of methadone, morphine sulfate, hydromorphone, oxycodone, codeine and other pills.

Letters from four of Keeton’s relatives were included in his court file. The relatives stated that Keeton was a hard worker and a good father to his four children, but had changed within the past few years because of an addiction to prescription pills and alcohol. They stated that drug and alcohol rehabilitation would help Keeton become a more productive member of society rather than sending him to prison.

Keeton’s attorney moved the court to probate his sentence, but the motion was denied on the grounds probation would depreciate the seriousness of the crime.

Senior Bradley Gerage, above, anchors a veteran Nelson County pitching staff along with classmate Tim Dugger. The Cardinals' season opens Monday.

DENNIS GEORGE
Contributing Writer

If variety is truly the spice of life, this should be an interesting year for Nelson County baseball.

Coach David Sparrow has only one returning position player returning from last year's 19th District runner-up team.

But that doesn't mean that the cupboard is completely bare for the fourth-year coach.

Not only do the Cardinals return their two top pitchers from a year ago, but they have a plethora of players who can play multiple positions.

And that, says Sparrow, can play big dividends over the course of a long season when his team is playing several games a week.

"We have a lot of kids who can play different positions and this gives us a lot of leeway in both the infield and the outfield," he explained. "If someone is sore after a game, we can rest them. It helps saves arms."

"We play almost every day and it can be mentally exhausting. By having so many kids who can play different positions, we don't just play nine or 10 kids but more than that. That should pay dividends in May at tournament time."

Seniors Bradley Gerage and Timothy Dugger will be the two aces of the staff. Gerage is a three-year starter who finished the 2011 campaign with a 4-5 mark and a 4.93 ERA. Dugger was 3-5 with a 5.38 ERA.

Sparrow says those numbers can be deceiving.

"Those two guys pitched in our best games against the biggest teams," he said, noting that state

Tourney challenge returns

Ladies and Gentlemen, I'm back.

Been a long time since the last column, so why not come back just in time for the NCAA tournament, which sorta got started last night up in Dayton, and gets started for real Thursday, with office production nationwide grinding to a standstill as folks huddle around the break room TV to steal a glimpse of a few scores.

It's always a special time of year, more often than not coinciding with the boys' Sweet 16 in Lexington — which, unfortunately, figures to depress attendance at the Greatest Show In Hoops on Thursday night when the 'Cats tip off for their opener, ideally against WKU — leaving folks gathering around TVs around downtown Lexington between the high school games.

I did a quick, gut-shot scan of the bracket today, and came up with a Final Four of Kentucky, Michigan State, Ohio State and Kansas. I know, I know ... it's not really going out on a limb with two No. 1 seeds and a pair of 2s, but it's what I came up with on a first glance. I reserve the right to change it later.

And you can, too, if you join our Kentucky Standard/Zubaty and Crew Sports Week bracket challenge.

All it takes is a Yahoo! Account — folks who participated last year will have already found invites in their e-mail inbox — but new folks can join either by entering the URL listed below, or go to Yahoo's fantasy sports page and sign up for the tournament pick'em contest. You'll want to look for the button that says "join an existing group."

Boating combines fun and learning

It was supposed to be a short, fun boat ride for the granddaughters. It was kind of a do-over after a storm shortened a ride the previous day. But, the ride turned into something more, something a bit special.

In every column, in every story I write I try to include at least one little tidbit of knowledge a reader might not have previously known. I'm not always successful, but I try.

And given an opportunity around young folks, I try to include a "teaching moment." I was never a teacher, but my wife, Phyllis, was, and I learned from her the importance of adding a little something extra to an experience. Down in Cajun Country they call it, "lagniappe."

While in Florida, I had the opportunity to take my granddaughters, Meredith, 4, and Allison Fields, 2, for a ride in my fishing boat. Parents Michelle and David also were along.

Unfortunately, storm clouds and wind forced us off Lake Rosalie. We arrived back in the marina just ahead of a brief, but heavy rainstorm.

We decided to try it again the next day. We had a nice trip with the girls, especially Meredith, asking lots of questions about everything from a wide variety of birds to those about the boat. How do you explain to a 4-year-old why the motor requires gasoline? Explaining a boat paddle was easier.

PHIL JUNKER

As we cruised the south end of the lake, the wind again started to gain strength, but not at a dangerous level. However, the girls expressed they were a bit chilly, but when I offered them a chance to "drive" the boat, they forgot about the chill, and both wanted to steer us toward the marina at the same time.

The girls loved steering the old 17-foot fishing boat. They were young captains learning about fishing boats. (Of course, grandpa maintained a tight grip on the steering wheel) even though they didn't realize it.

Meredith and Allison had fun and learned a bit about boating. Grandpa had just as much fun, and maybe more.

Turkey season

Kentucky's spring turkey season kicks off April 7-8 with youth hunt weekend. The regular statewide season is scheduled April 14 through May 6.

Braswell first

The Crappie Masters team of Bill Braswell and Dan Dannenmueller have moved into first place in the 2012 Crappie Masters "Angler Team of the Year" National Points race.

Braswell, from Hazard, is a retired Kentucky Conservation officer.

Starting off the year with a third-place finish on the Harris Chain of lakes at Leesburg, Fla., the 2011 Angler Team of the Year was able to take the lead following the Columbus, Miss., tournament.

Braswell says, "It's still early in the season with nine more tournaments schedchampion Central Hardin beat his team in the opening game of the region. “They were thrown to the fire and into tough situations.”

That experience translates into having two more coaches working with his younger pitchers.

“They will be very helpful when they are in the dugout,” he said. “They can help the others with mechanics and can point out things like holding runners on base.”

A pair of sophomore southpaws will fill out the starting rotation.

Jared Proctor and Alex Briney have only junior varsity experience, but played for the Kentucky Baseball Club over the summer. That gained the pair invaluable experience and has advanced them in the process.

Paden Vernon, Jake Jones, T.J. Osborne, and Spencer Sharpe will be relievers.

Senior Anthony Wilkerson was a backup catcher a year ago and got a lot of time behind the plate in the summer and fall.

“We’ve had some great catchers here the past few years and Anthony hasn’t gotten a lot of reps in game situations,” Sparrow said.

BRUCE NICHOLS/Contributing Photographer

Khalil Bourn, right, provides Nelson County with a speedy presence on the basepaths.

“He’ll need some games off during the season and junior Wes Trent and sophomore Simon Burkot will get game experience.”

Sparrow’s first baseman will be determined by whoever is pitching. Jones is a multi-talented infielder who will see action at first and third. Briney and Gerage will see action at first base.

Vernon will start at second but Zech Mauldin will take over when the former is on the mound.

Sharpe, the lone returning position starter, moves from third base to shortstop.

“He is also going to be our top hitter,” Sparrow said. He hit .313 last year and he can handle the bat. He can bunt and move runners along. He gets the bat on the ball and makes the defense make plays.”

Junior Dylan Beasley, described by his coach as the team’s top power hitter, will start at third.

“We don’t have the type of players who will hit 5-7 homers, but Dylan will hit the ball hard and be a doubles hitter.”

Sparrow doesn’t describe his outfield by position because they can play every position. Gerage, Dugger, Proctor, sophomore Hunter Smith, and junior Khalil Bourn will rotate positions.

“Khalil has something that you cannot teach and that is speed,” Sparrow said.

“He will be our lead-off hitter and led our JV team in walks last year. He is a tough out and so dangerous because he hits the ball on the ground. With his speed, he’s always a threat to get on base.”

Nelson County won district championships in Sparrow’s first two seasons before losing to Washington County last season despite being the top seed. He’s hoping his team can regain the magic and take the crown in the last season before some of his players move over to Thomas Nelson.

“The district as a whole has really improved and become more competitive. Washington County has a lot of returning talent and is the favorite. I have the utmost respect for coach Derek Shuler, (Bardstown) coach (Glenn) Koger and (Bethlehem) coach (Roger) Robinson. We have some good coaches in our district.”

Sharpe says he’s also looking forward to a shot at the district crown and says he already has games circled on the schedule. “I know the days we play Bethlehem and Bardstown,” he said. “We have a good time with their players before the games.”

Jones, too, is hoping for a title to cap off his career and is doing his best to show leadership to some of the young players.

“I’m trying to lead by example and come in every day with a good attitude,” he said. “We have the talent to win the district if we all pull together.”

Nelson County entertains Bullitt Central next Monday to open the season.

Spring weed control starts this week

I think I have finally figured out the perfect machine for controlling those pesky spring weeds ... sheep. Well, I know it is not for everyone (and I know it cannot last much longer for me) but our pregnant herd of Katahdin ewes are let loose from their pasture in the afternoon to graze freely within the secure fencing of the entire property for a few hours. To my delight they have completely rid the mulched area beneath more than 20 crabapples of chickweed, mouse ear, henbit, cress and any other savory weed that is otherwise my nemesis this time of the year. While the help is appreciated it won't be too long when it will be problematic to let them graze freely because they will start to eat my perennials, trees and shrubs ... they are close to lambing and their pastures are greening up so it will balance itself out.

So if you don't have a flock what are you to do to control the onslaught of germinating weeds? Controlling certain weeds takes some strategic planning especially if you prefer to use as little chemical input as possible. For everyone's sake this should be the focus: human, pet, livestock, nature, waterways, etc. need to be protected. I have chickens that forage all over the place year round so there is no chance of using anything other than a well-timed strategy of hand-weeding, mulching, corn gluten and a little flame throwing, I'll explain.

You have probably already noticed some cool season weeds such as henbit, chickweed and wild onion. Perennial performers such as violets, dandelions and creeping Charlie are not far behind. Annual weeds spread by seed so if we address the young seedlings now, especially before they bloom, with a hoe or scratching tool in hand we have eliminated one generation. If the weeds are perennials such as violet or wild onion then a bit more effort may be required. Every spring when the ground is moist I take my spade to the garden and pop out onions and violets from the mixed perennial beds. In a matter of about three years total I have eliminated some major weed problems by pulling, cultivating, mulching and using corn gluten pre-emergent.

Once your weeds are under control follow up with smart cultural practices such as maintaining a taller stand of turf (don't mow grass shorter than 2-1/2 inches!); use 2 inches of mulch in beds and tree rings; and hoe or hand weed as soon as you notice something. You can also use corn gluten based products as a granular pre-emergent to prevent weed seed from germinating. For this product to work effectively you must follow up with an application about every 10 weeks. Corn gluten is perfectly safe and provides a small amount of nitrogen to the garden as well. Don't use it where you are starting plants from seed, however.

We also employ a flame weeder that I will use on annual weeds such as henbit that can carpet some areas in the vegetable garden in spring. The "Dragon" effectively cooks young tender weed seedlings but getting to them early is key. Organic herbicides that prove effective for spot treating weeds includes those with clove and citrus oils as the active ingredient; a full strength vinegar spray will wither a weed, too, but you need to come back to it several times to starve the roots. Hand digging and pulling weeds with a friend is a great way to catch up; one week weed together in your yard, next week in your friend's yard. Lunch included!

If you are battling tough weeds such as Creeping Charlie you may be required to use a chemical to begin with; but if you properly use the product you should be able to follow up with hand weeding and cultural practices for long-term management. One treatment of a product that contains the active ingredients 2, 4-D, dicamba and trichlopyr is effective on the most difficult weeds. I emphasize, however, that you follow label instructions exactly. It is better to use it once and take care of the problem than to be tempted to rely on synthetic herbicides throughout the season, year after year.

Clearly there is no magic bullet for weed control but we can take some common sense measures to devise an overall management plan. We have come to rely too heavily on the use of herbicides to fix our problems when we already have all the free tools we need: memory, reason and nimble fingers!

JUBILEE

Jubilee is very sweet. She is about 4 months old and a definite lap dog. This little girl is tan and white and is a terrier/Chihuahua mix. You will not want to leave without this darling little dog.

SAWYER

Sawyer will steal your heart. He is a 5-month-old domestic shorthair with a thick yellow coat. This kitten is ready to accommodate you whether you want to play or just hang out. Great kitten.

PINEY

Piney is a petite black kitten. She is about 3 months old and very active. Piney loves to play and is a real Chatty Cathy. If you want a loving little kitten then Piney is the one for you.

Free pesticide safety training for farm workers

Frank Collins of KY Farmworker Programs is now providing Free Pesticide Safety Training. Collins has been certified by EPA to conduct this training for farm workers.

Frank Collins

What is this training?
The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has developed the Worker Protection Standard (WPS) to protect farm workers. The WPS is a regulation requiring the field workers receive pesticide safety training within five days of being hired if they have not already been trained. (Those who handle or apply pesticides must receive more detailed and technical training before being allowed to work.) The WPS requires that workers receive training once every 5 years, though refresher trainings are encouraged. This certificate is good for 5 years from the date issued.

For whom is this training?

This training is for anyone working around a farm; seasonally or year-round — also those laboring in packing houses, nurseries, orchards, and fields. There are no eligibility requirements (ID, Citizenship, etc.) for this training. Collins can conduct this training free of charge for any farm workers in the Lincoln Train area.

This training is very helpful to farmers, growers or crew leaders as KY Farmworker Programs can provide them the proof needed for their records for those who have completed the training.

KFP can train an individual one-on-one or can work with groups.

For more information contact Frank Collins at 502-348-2709 or 270-766-5115 ext 45846 or e-mail: Frank40299@gmail.com or call KY Farmworker Program at 1-800-950-3276.

Dinner with Art

The Dinner with Art fundraiser which benefits the Nelson County Community Clinic (NCCC) is set for Friday, April 13, starting at 6:30 p.m. at the St. Gregory Church Community Center. There will be a live and silent auction of unique works of art from local artists. The $35 ticket includes dinner and drinks. Anyone who wishes to donate artwork, sponsor the event in any way, or buy tickets can call the clinic at 349-5990. If art is your talent, you can get started on a piece now. When it's ready, you can donate it.

Since it opened, the clinic has provided free medical and dental care to hundreds of Nelson Countians who lack health insurance or the ability to pay for care, and has provided thousands of dollars worth of free medications. When we help the clinic, we help our fellow citizens. In this way, we help ourselves.

Taste of Bardstown

Taste of Bardstown is the annual buffet that helps Hospice of Nelson County patients, and also helps the Bardstown-Nelson County Hospitality Association. The dinner will be 5:30 p.m. Monday, April 16 at St. Gregory Church Community Center. It will feature a silent auction of baskets and a live auction of various items. Consider donating a basket, and get as creative as you like crafting a gardening basket, a movie night basket, a baby shower basket, or whatever suits your fancy. Tickets are $20 each. Call 350-5570 for more information.

American Red Cross providing services in affected communities

The American Red Cross continues to provide relief to residents of Kentucky and Southern Indiana devastated by the recent tornados.

Fifteen Red Cross emergency response vehicles are out delivering food, water, coffee and utility gloves throughout Kentucky and Southern Indiana. To date, more than 17,000 meals and snacks have been served.

More than 330 trained Red Cross workers throughout the country have come together here in Kentuckiana to assist the affected communities. Of those 330, 157 are from the Commonwealth.

On March 9, the Red Cross had a truck stationed at the Monroe Township Fire Department, 315 S. Ferguson Street, Henryville, Ind., and distributed comfort kits and supplies to affected residents.

>> AROUND KENTUCKY

Here's a sampling of events you might want to check out

Through Aug. 26: A new exhibit, "About Face: Kentucky Artisan Works Inspired by the Human Face," opened March 3 at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea, and will be on display through Aug. 26, 2012.

This exhibit features a wide range of works in which the human face is a central element, focal point or inspiration. Created by 43 Kentucky artisans working in photography, painting, fiber, clay, gourds, wood, bronze, collage and mixed-media, this exhibit showcases realistic and abstract works.

A public meet-the-artisans reception will be Sunday, March 18, 1-3 p.m., at the Kentucky Artisan Center in Berea. The center is at 200 Artisan Way, just off Interstate 75 at Berea exit 77.

The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open winter hours daily 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., with the cafe open 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Admission is free. The center currently features works by more than 650 artisans from 100 counties throughout the Commonwealth. For more information call 859-985-5448 or visit the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenter.ky.gov.

March 17: Elizabethtown Community and Technical College will present a Celtic concert by The Chattering Magpies and Keltricity 7:30 p.m. in the Science Auditorium of the College. Sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee, there will be no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited.

March 17: On Saturday, March 17, three members of the Berea Welcome Center Carvers will demonstrate their woodcarving techniques 10:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. at the Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea. Carving that day will be Vince Harrison of Irvine, Oris Stanton of Somerset and Ron McWhorter of Richmond.

Woodcarving is an ancient art found in every culture and part of the world. Carving styles include whittling, line carving, chip carving, pierced carving, relief carving, in-the-round carving (sculpture), architectural carving and chainsaw carving. Woods generally used for spoon and bowl carving are harder woods such as walnut, oak, maple or cherry. The Kentucky Artisan Center at Berea is at 200 Artisan Way, off I-75 at Berea exit 77. The center's exhibits, shopping and travel information areas are open winter hours daily 9 a.m.-6 p.m. with the cafe open 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Admission is free. The center currently features works by more than 650 artisans from 100 counties across the Commonwealth with a special exhibition through Aug. 26, "About Face: Kentucky Artisan Works Inspired by the Human Face." For information call 859-985-5448 or visit the center's website at www.kentuckyartisancenter.ky.gov.

March 24: Bullitt County Woman's Club will have its 41st annual Irene Carroll Style Show and Luncheon 11:30 a.m.-2 p.m. March 24 at Paroquet Springs Convention Centre, Shepherdsville. Tickets are $25. For tickets call (502) 538-6623 or (502) 538-7410.

March 24: The Fort Knox committee of Ducks Unlimited will hold its third annual "Sportsman's Night Out" at VFW Post 10281, 299 Briggs Lane in Vine Grove at 6 p.m.

For information on how you can support Ducks Unlimited's program of wetlands conservation, contact Robert Gilpin at 270-900-1254 for tickets and further details.

March 30-April 1: Sesame Street Live: 1-2-3 Imagine! with Elmo & Friends, Saturday, March 31, at 10:30 a.m., 2 p.m., 5:30 p.m.; Sunday, April 1, at 1 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. in the Brown Theatre. Tickets start at $15.75. Kentucky Center Members save 15 percent on select seats. Call The Kentucky Center Box Office at 584-7777, toll free at (800) 775-7777, (502) 562-0730 (TTY), or visit www.kentuckycenter.org. Tommy Wilkerson named a National Merit finalist Bardstown High School has a National Merit finalist.

Tommy Wilkerson, 17, said Thursday that the news hasn't really set in yet.

"I don't know how I felt," Wilkerson said. "It was kind of like saying, 'By the way, you're a finalist.'"

He is one of only 14,000 students in the U.S. to be chosen as a finalist.

Wilkerson said that he should find out in a month or two if he has been awarded a scholarship.

Students give from the heart to those in need

The staff and students at Bardstown Early Childhood Education recently collected food items to help the St. Vincent de Paul Mission Store replenish its supplies after the holidays.

“Many of our students returned to school after the Christmas holiday talking about how their families had given to others and about participating in Angel Tree programs during the holidays,” said Cherie Elzy, 4-year-old teacher at the preschool. “Our staff decided this was a perfect ‘teachable moment’ so we explained to our students that those needs for food, clothes, and supplies exist year-round for many people so we decided to do a food drive. Our young students and their families responded in a big way, not only donating food themselves, but asking relatives, friends, and neighbors to join the effort. The staff at St. Vincent de Paul was very pleased to receive the food after Christmas when their supplies are often depleted.”

McClaskey graduates from UK

Charles Boone McClaskey is a December 2011 graduate of the University of Kentucky with a degree in computer science. He is the son of Joan and Jack McClaskey, Cox’s Creek. He is employed at Belcan Engineering, Lexington.

Federal student aid programs can help pay college costs

The federal government sponsors numerous financial aid programs that can help students and their parents pay college expenses. Below is a brief summary from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) that describes some of the more common federal grant and loan programs. Grants generally do not have to be repaid, but loans do.

- Federal Pell Grant: Pell Grants provide up to $5,550 per year for undergraduates with financial need.
- Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant: grants that provide up to $4,000 per year for undergraduate students who have exceptional financial need.

- Federal Perkins Loan: loans for students with exceptional financial need. Undergraduates can get up to $5,500 per year, while graduate students can get up to $8,000 per year.
- Federal Stafford Loan: Stafford Loans are available to undergraduate, graduate and professional students. The amount students may borrow varies depending upon their year in school.
- Federal PLUS Loan: Parents of dependent undergraduate students may qualify for PLUS Loans, depending on the parents’ credit ratings. The amount available depends on how much other financial aid the student receives. Graduate students may apply for PLUS Loans if they have exhausted all of their Stafford Loan eligibility.

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) is used to apply for all of these programs. Families seeking a PLUS Loan must also submit a separate application.

To find links to other useful education websites, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call (800) 928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

Dawson receives President’s scholar designation

Ryan Dawson, a freshman at Western Kentucky University and a 2011 graduate of Nelson County High School, received the designation of President’s Scholar for the Fall 2011 semester.

To be selected for this honor a student must compile an academic standing of 3.8 or better out of a possible 4.0.

Former Governor Collins to speak at SCC

Former Kentucky Governor, and past president of St. Catharine College, Martha Layne Collins will speak at SCC as part of a Women’s History Month celebration 10 a.m. March 20 in Pettus Auditorium, in the Richard S. Hamilton Health and Science Building.

Martha Collins

Collins will share her experiences as a female leader in the male dominated fields of U.S. politics and higher education. Collins was Kentucky Governor from December 1931 to December 1987. Following her time in political office, she was the president of St. Catharine College from 1990 to 1996.

Since her time at SCC, she has held a part-time position as “executive scholar in residence” at Georgetown College. In 1999, she was named Honorary Consul General of Japan in Kentucky, a position, which involved promoting Japanese interests in Kentucky, encouraging Japanese investment in the state, and encouraging cultural understanding between Kentucky and Japan. In 2001, she was named co-chair of the Kentucky Task Force on the Economic Status of Women. In January 2005, she became the chairwoman and chief executive officer of the Kentucky World Trade Center.

Here is a list of other Women’s History Month events coming up at SCC:

- March 20, 11 a.m.-12:15 p.m., Pettus Auditorium -U.S. Women’s History Class Presentations. Come watch a series of short presentations on a variety of topics on American women from the 1700s to the present.
- March 21, 7-9 p.m., Pettus Auditorium —

Women’s History Month Film Series, Made in Dagenham, a 2010 film dramatization of the 1968 strike at the Ford Dagenham car plant in East London, where female workers walked out in protest against sexual discrimination.

- March 22, 2:30 p.m., Pettus Auditorium-Rudrani Devi. Devi is a Tennessee native and survivor of the terrorist attacks in Mumbai, India. Told she would never walk again, she persevered through her 25-month recovery and ran the 2011 Boston Marathon. She is the author of Soul Survivor and For the Love of Running.
- March 27, 11 a.m.-12:15 p.m., Pettus Auditorium -U.S. Women’s History Class Presentations. Come watch a series of short presentations on a variety of topics on American women from the 1700s to the present.

NCHS Performing Arts Department wins honors

The Nelson County High School Performing Arts Department had another successful weekend as it hosted its first Tri-State Circuit Competition, hosting more than 38 groups from Kentucky, Indiana and

Ohio March 10. The NCHS Winterguard placed second in Scholastic Class A-3 and the NCHS Indoor Percussion Ensemble placed first in Scholastic Class B. On Sunday, both groups traveled to Elizabethtown High School and each claimed the first-place trophy.

Each group will compete in the Tri-State Championships March 24 at Ryle High School in Union.

Be sure you understand a contract before you sign it

A contract is a written agreement between two or more parties in which an offer is made and accepted. The Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) advises that if you are thinking about signing a contract, make sure you fully understand it first. If you rent an apartment or have your own cell phone plan, you have probably signed a contract. If you have taken out a federal student loan, you entered a contract when you signed your Master Promissory Note.

Since a contract sets out in detail what each party is obligated to do for the other party, you should read each contract thoroughly and ask questions. If one of the parties agrees to make a change in the contract, make sure the change is in writing. Get all of your questions answered before you sign the contract, and keep a copy after you have signed. In some cases, you may want to have an attorney review the contract before you sign it.

Consumer protection laws let you cancel some contracts within three days of signing. Before you sign any contract, find out if you have that option. If you do not, your options of getting out of the contract are limited.

If someone uses high-pressure tactics to get you to sign a contract, consider that a warning sign and consider walking away from the agreement.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky’s grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES).

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602-0798; or call (800) 928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 09-CI-047		NELSON CIRCUIT COURT
DIVISION NO. 1
CHASE HOME FINANCE, LLC		PLAINTIFF
NOTICE OF SALE
CHRISTY RIGGS a/k/a CHRISTY R. CHESSE		DEFENDANT
By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale entered in the Nelson Circuit Court on March 4, 2009 in the above action Plaintiff is owed $78,431.80, with interest thereon at the rate of $11.88 per diem from the above date until paid plus other charges. I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Bardstown, Nelson County, Kentucky, on Thursday, March 29, 2012, at 10:30 A.M., E.S.T., or thereabouts, the following tract of land, together with any improvements, located in Nelson County, Kentucky, and being more particularly described as follows:
806 Bartley Avenue, Bardstown, KY 40004
The following described property located in Bardstown, Nelson County, Kentucky, to-wit:
A certain tract of land being Lot #10 of Kurtz Addition #4 of Bardstown, Nelson County, Kentucky, subdivision plat is recorded in Deed Book 131, Page 479, to wit: Beginning in a stake corner with Lot #9 in the North line of Bartley Avenue at a point 176.7 feet westerly from Center Street, and hence with Bartley Avenue N 77-3/4 W 60.0 feet to a stake corner with Lot #11 in the North line of Bartley Avenue; hence with Lot #11, N 12-1/4 E 140.0 feet to a pipe corner with Lot #11 in the line of Kurtz Addition #3; hence with Kurtz Addition #3 S 77-3/4 E 60.0 feet to a stake corner with Lot #9 in the line of Kurtz Addition #3; hence with Lot #9 S 12-1/4 W 140.0 feet to the beginning.
The successful bidder may pay the purchase price on the day of sale in cash, or in the alternative, upon a credit of thirty (30) days, with twenty percent (20%) being paid in cash on the day of sale, and a bond for the balance of the purchase price with interest at twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, which shall be executed by the purchaser with approved surety, made payable to the Master Commissioner, having the full force and effect of a judgment, and a lien shall be retained by the Commissioner securing the payment of the purchase price. The buyer will be responsible for taxes from the year the Judgment was entered to the present date. The Master Commissioner will make a good faith effort to obtain and pay all taxes or assessments upon the property for prior years if there are sufficient funds from the sale to do so, after expenses, however this cannot be guaranteed. The property shall be sold free and clear of all non-tax lien parties named in the above-styled action, but subject to any recorded easements and rights of way, any facts which an inspection or accurate survey might reveal, and zoning regulations of Nelson County, Kentucky.
The Master Commissioner does not obtain title inspections or investigate for liens on the property. The purchaser is responsible for title inspection and/or any additional liens not named in the Judgment and Order of Sale.
The purchaser may take possession of the property pursuant to the terms of the judgment. If the judgment does not make provision for possession the buyer may seek possession of the property through the court system after payment of the full purchase price. You can contact my office for additional information.
The real estate is to be sold as a whole, subject to those items set out above. Neither the Plaintiff, Nelson Circuit Court nor the Master Commissioner's office warrants title to any purchaser. Said property is sold subject to the Judgment and Order of Sale in this case which should be reviewed carefully prior to purchase.

“There are many misconceptions about modern agriculture. As a farmer and a mom, I want to help inform other mothers about the safety of the food in their supermarkets.”

ASHLEY REDING, COMMONGROUND SPOKESPERSON

Farmer’s wife works to set food facts straight

RONNIE BENNINGFIELD

True or false: Foods produced through traditional and organic methods are nutritionally equivalent?

According to Howardstown farm wife and CommonGround spokesperson Ashley Reding, the answer is “True.”

“From high fructose corn syrup to ‘corporate’ farms to free range chickens to antibiotics and hormones, there are a number of misconceptions surrounding modern agriculture,” said Reding, who with her husband and his parents, operate Homestead Family Farms.

As a volunteer for CommonGround, Reding’s goal is to bridge the gap between farm moms and urban moms.

“Most people (including myself) are four generations removed from the farm,” she said. “There are many misconceptions about modern agriculture. As a farmer and a mom, I want to help inform other mothers about the safety of the food in their supermarkets.”

One of 11 CommonGround volunteers from across the state, she provides this information through presentations, interviews and social media. In January, she was guest speaker at the LaRue County Extension Council’s leadership banquet, telling those attending how she became involved in farming and how she became an agricultural advocate which she terms “Avgocate.”

She was one of the four original volunteers from Kentucky when CommonGround began its pilot program in five states. Since then, it has expanded to 15 states. Reding has taken her message throughout Kentucky from Louisville to Lexington. She has done numerous radio interviews and has been featured in articles for Kentucky Living and Progressive Farmer.

“I was not raised on a farm and indeed still do not like to get dirty; however, I somehow ended up marrying a farmer and I have watched as agriculture practices continue to come under attack in mainstream media,” she said.

The CommonGround web page (http://findour-commonground.com/food_facts.html) lists some findings and sources that dispel some of the more common misconceptions about farming practices:

- No effects on human health have been shown as a result of the consumption of foods produced through biotechnology. Source: World Health Organization.
- Organic and conventional foods contain the same nutrition profiles. Source: Review of scientific papers published in Critical Reviews in Food Science and Nutrition.
- Growth hormones used for efficient lean meat production are safe for cattle and for humans consuming meat. Source: World Health Organization/Food and Agriculture Organization.
- About 99 percent of U.S. farms and ranches are owned by individuals, families or partnerships, not large corporations. Source: US Department of Agriculture.
- The entire U.S. agriculture sector accounts for only 6 percent of total U.S. greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, while fossil fuel combustion represents 80 percent. Source: Environmental Protection Agency.

- U.S. consumers spend only 10 percent of income on food versus 18-25 percent in other parts of the world. Source: Hand that Feeds US.

- The U.S. farmer’s share of the retail food dollar has been declining for more than 60 years, and today represents only 19 cents of every dollar. Source: Hand that Feeds US.

- Organic and conventional milk contain the same nutrients. Source: American Medical Association.

- Higher energy costs affect food prices more than U.S. corn used in ethanol, which only accounts for 10-15 percent of price increases. Source: Congressional Budget Office in 2008.

- Eggs from modern cage production systems are cleaner and safer with lower shell bacteria levels than eggs from free-range production systems. Source: United Egg Producers.

- Farmers meet stringent requirements on drug use so that meat sold does not contain any traces of antibiotics beyond strict safety levels. Source: Food and Drug Administration.

“It is important to note that as CommonGround volunteers, we support all sectors of agriculture. We have an organic farmer on our panel,” said Reding. “I am not anti-organic; I am simply out there to inform moms — and anyone else who will listen — that traditionally grown foods are as healthy and nutritious as their organic counterparts.”

Bethlehem Alumni Hall of Fame

The Bethlehem Alumni Committee is accepting nominations for the Hall of Fame candidates. Qualifications are as follows:

- Alumnus of the Year — This award will be presented to one individual, based on the recipient’s activities during the previous calendar year.
- Hall of Fame — Three individuals will be recognized with induction into the Hall of Fame. This award is based on the recipient’s activities since graduation.
- The Star Award — One person, not an alum, will be recognized for contributions to the Bethlehem community.

I would like to nominate:

_____ as Alumnus of the Year. This award is given annually to an alumnus who, living or deceased, has contributed to his or her community and enriched lives of those around him or her. As a graduate of BHS, his or her outstanding accomplishments bring distinction to the school and the strong foundation it fosters in young men and women.

_____ for the Hall of Fame. This award is given to a former BHS graduate, living or deceased, for a culmination of their outstanding contributions and achievements. This person has been an exceptionally loyal and devoted supporter of BHS. Nominee must be at least a 10-year graduate of BHS.

_____ for the Star Award. This award is given annually to an individual, living or deceased who is not a BHS graduate, who has contributed significantly to the BHS community. This woman or man has devoted tremendous time and talent behind the scenes for BHS, making our school a wonderful place for our faculty and students.

Please attach to this form a letter of nomination detailing your reasons for nominating individuals for the above awards.

Signature, address and phone number of nominator _____

Nomination deadline is March 23, 2012. Return this form and letter of nomination to Patty Nevitt, Alumni Director, Bethlehem High School, 309 W. Stephen Foster Ave., Bardstown, KY 40004.

Job fair caters to veterans

Job seekers who are transitioning personnel, veterans, members of the National Guard, reservists and their dependents will have an opportunity to meet nearly 45 employers at a March 29 job fair. The event is 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at the American Legion Post 113 in Elizabethtown.

The free event is sponsored by the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training in conjunction with the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veteran.

Attendees should be prepared for interviews, bring proof of military service such as a DD214, VA or military ID card and a current resume.

“Our emphasis for this job fair will be on military veteran job seekers and companies looking to hire them. This is a great opportunity for job seekers and employers to connect in person and make multiple contacts in a short time period,” said Hector “Jim” Cruz, local veterans employment representative (LVER) with OET.

For more information about the event or if you are an employer who wants to participate, contact OET at 270-766-5115.

CIVIL ACTION NO. 11-CI-725 NELSON CIRCUIT COURT
DIVISION NO. 1
DEUTSCHE BANK NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, as
INDENTURE TRUSTEE, for NEW CENTURY HOME
EQUITY LOAN TRUST 2006-2 PLAINTIFF
NOTICE OF SALE
KENNETH L. VIDT, et al. DEFENDANTS

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale entered in the Nelson Circuit Court on February 2, 2012 in the above action Plaintiff is owed $107,537.88, with interest thereon at the rate of $13.22 per diem from the above date until paid plus other charges. I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Bardstown, Nelson County, Kentucky, on Thursday, March 29, 2012, at 11:00 A.M., E.S.T., or thereabouts, the following tract of land, together with any improvements, located in Nelson County, Kentucky, and being more particularly described as follows:

260 Whitesides Road, Cox’s Creek, KY 40013
Being Tract #4 of the Whitney Farm Division, as shown on plat recorded in Plat Cabinet 1, Slot 434, in the Clerk’s Office of the Nelson County Court.

The successful bidder may pay the purchase price on the day of sale in cash, or in the alternative, upon a credit of thirty (30) days, with twenty percent (20%) being paid in cash on the day of sale, and a bond for the balance of the purchase price with interest at twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, which shall be executed by the purchaser with approved surety, made payable to the Master Commissioner, having the full force and effect of a judgment, and a lien shall be retained by the Commissioner securing the payment of the purchase price. The buyer will be responsible for taxes from the year the Judgment was entered to the present date. The Master Commissioner will make a good faith effort to obtain and pay all taxes or assessments upon the property for prior years if there are sufficient funds from the sale to do so, after expenses, however this cannot be guaranteed. The property shall be sold free and clear of all non-tax lien parties named in the above-styled action, but subject to any recorded easements and rights of way, any facts which an inspection or accurate survey might reveal, and zoning regulations of Nelson County, Kentucky.

The Master Commissioner does not obtain title inspections or investigate for liens on the property. The purchaser is responsible for title inspection and/or any additional liens not named in the Judgment and Order of Sale.

The purchaser may take possession of the property pursuant to the terms of the judgment. If the judgment does not make provision for possession the buyer may seek possession of the property through the court system after payment of the full purchase price. You can contact my office for additional information.

The real estate is to be sold as a whole, subject to those items set out above. Neither the Plaintiff, Nelson Circuit Court nor the Master Commissioner’s office warrants title to any purchaser. Said property is sold subject to the Judgment and Order of Sale in this case which should be reviewed carefully prior to purchase.

An acceptable surety must be present at the sale to sign a bond and the surety may not be the spouse of the purchaser(s). A surety shall not be necessary if the full purchase price is immediately paid at the time of sale. Any payments must be acceptable to the Master Commissioner in his sole discretion.

Bidders will be prepared to promptly comply with the above terms.

Tract 2:
The property described herein consists of an agricultural lot on the South side of Kentucky State Route 46 and the West side of Clarktown Road about 7 miles Southerly of Bardstown, in Nelson County, Kentucky. Said lot is more particularly described as follows:
Beginning at an iron rod on the West right-of-way line of Clarktown Road about 1156 feet Southerly of KSR 46 and proceeding N 58-16 W 763.7 feet to an iron rod in a fence line; thence with said fence N 24-04 E 287 feet to an iron rod; thence S 56-30 E 844.8 feet to an iron rod on the West r.o.w. line of Clarktown Road; thence with said r.o.w. line S 41-02 W 252 feet to the point of beginning. Said lot contains 5.01 acres.
The successful bidder may pay the purchase price on the day of sale in cash, or in the alternative, upon a credit of thirty (30) days, with twenty percent (20%) being paid in cash on the day of sale, and a bond for the balance of the purchase price with interest at twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, which shall be executed by the purchaser with approved surety, made payable to the Master Commissioner, having the full force and effect of a judgment, and a lien shall be retained by the Commissioner securing the payment of the purchase price. The buyer will be responsible for taxes from the year the Judgment was entered to the present date. The Master Commissioner will make a good faith effort to obtain and pay all taxes or assessments upon the property for prior years if there are sufficient funds from the sale to do so, after expenses, however this cannot be guaranteed. The property shall be sold free and clear of all non-tax lien parties named in the above-styled action, but subject to any recorded easements and rights of way, any facts which an inspection or accurate survey might reveal, and zoning regulations of Nelson County, Kentucky.
The Master Commissioner does not obtain title inspections or investigate for liens on the property. The purchaser is responsible for title inspection and/or any additional liens not named in the Judgment and Order of Sale.
The purchaser may take possession of the property pursuant to the terms of the judgment. If the judgment does not make provision for possession the buyer may seek possession of the property through the court system after payment of the full purchase price. You can contact my office for additional information.
The real estate is to be sold as a whole, subject to those items set out above. Neither the Plaintiff, Nelson Circuit Court nor the Master Commissioner's office warrants title to any purchaser. Said property is sold subject to the Judgment and Order of Sale in this case which should be reviewed carefully prior to purchase.
An acceptable surety must be present at the sale to sign a bond and the surety may not be the spouse of the purchaser(s). A surety shall not be necessary if the full purchase price is immediately paid at the time of sale. Any payments must be acceptable to the Master Commissioner in his sole discretion.
Bidders will be prepared to promptly comply with the above terms.
This 28th day of February, 2012.
WILLIAM T. HUTCHINS, JR., Attorney-at-Law Master Commissioner, Nelson Circuit Court 116 E. Stephen Foster Avenue Bardstown, KY 40004 (502) 348-1111

Teen's free place to live comes with painful cost

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and having an affair with a married man twice my age, but I am an unwilling participant. You see, I grew up with "Jasmine," and over the years her family has become mine. I was going through a rough time, and when her family offered me a place to stay, I accepted.

JEANNE PHILLIPS

» DEAR ABBY
Syndicated Columnist

They treat me like one of their own, buy me presents — even introduce me as a daughter. However, after my birthday party, Jasmine's father came into my bedroom and took advantage of me. I was scared and didn't say anything. Over the past few months, he has sneaked into my room several times to "talk" or rub my back. He always crosses the line, and I'm too afraid to tell him to stop.

I feel sick and guilty when I see Jasmine or her mother, and I'm hurt and ashamed when I see him. I feel betrayed and confused. I tell myself I do it "for a place to stay." Is there forgiveness for me? Please help.

DISTRAUGHT IN THE NORTHWEST
DEAR DISTRAUGHT: It appears you ARE "doing it for a place to stay," and for your own well-being you need to make other living arrangements and get out of there. You have been betrayed, and your feelings are valid. You are not being treated like a daughter; you are being coerced by a man with no conscience or compassion. Of course there is forgiveness for you — but first you have to forgive yourself. Leaving is the first step.

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend, "Ross," and I have been together for five years and have a 2-year-old child. We talk a lot about marriage and we're engaged — kind of. Ross asked me and I said yes four years ago, but no one knows we're engaged. He bought me a ring and I have been wearing it. Nobody has questioned it.

I want to say something about our plans, but Ross says he's too nervous and is afraid my parents will be angry. I am 23 and unemployed. Ross is 24 and has had bad luck with a bunch of jobs. Our 2-year-old and I live with my parents. Ross is currently staying with his grandparents.

I don't want a big wedding and I'm afraid my parents will be mad if Ross and I start planning ours. How can we break the news to them?

TIMID IN STOCKTON, CALIF.
DEAR TIMID: If Your boyfriend is too nervous to tell anyone about the engagement, face it — you're kind of NOT engaged. If I were you, I'd hold off making any announcements to your folks until you have the answers ready to some questions first, like where you and Ross plan to live after the wedding. With your parents? His grandparents? Who do you expect will be paying for the wedding you're planning?

"Everyone" may have ignored the significance of the ring you're wearing because neither of you is ready for marriage.

DEAR ABBY: When buying a gift for someone and it arrives with a mail-in rebate, what do you do? If you give the person the rebate, he or she will know how much you paid for the gift. If you remove the UPC code, it looks like you regifted. How should this be handled?

HAVEN'T A CLUE IN EAST HARTFORD, CONN.

DEAR HAVEN'T A CLUE: Many people regift, and as long as the item is well-chosen for the recipient and is in mint condition, there's nothing wrong with the practice. How much was paid for the item is beside the point. When a gift is given, the price tag is removed. Because the mail-in rebate would be a tip-off, it should be removed, too.

>> HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★★ You will try anything once — within reason. Remain sensitive to financial matters that offer provocative options. Be smart about your choices. Your drive and hard work impress someone. Tonight: Remain upbeat. Try a new place.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★★★ Everyone, including you, likes to be indulged. At times, it might be difficult to say "thank you." Let someone express his or her ideas about an important situation before you choose how much you want to reveal. Tonight: Be a duo.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★★★ Remain responsive, but be careful when choosing your cause. You might not be able to cover all your bases; therefore, decide what is most important or instrumental to your success. A domestic issue takes the forefront because of someone's energy. Tonight: Say "yes" to the moment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★★ Make and act on a long-overdue resolution. You know you need to follow that path; the time is now. Understand what is happening. You have spirit and energy behind your words and actions. Others know you are serious. Tonight: Flow with the moment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★★ Your enthusiasm helps you cross the thin line between impossible and possible. Often, others watch your antics in amazement. If you choose to take a risk, be aware of the potential damages. Feelings flow between you and another person. Tonight: Order in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★★ Stay centered and know exactly what you are doing. Listen to someone's rendition of events. Remember that whatever people inadvertently choose to see could vary, and they might not even be conscious of their mental filters. Tonight: Buy a favorite treat on the way home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★★★ You communicate the essence of your thoughts without difficulty. Others enjoy the special touches of your style as well. A discussion involving a personal issue is well-timed. Check into a real estate matter with care. Tonight: Speak your mind.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★★ Remain sensitive to a change in an offer that has been presented to you in the past. This could make quite a difference in the overall experience and its results. Explore your options as you express your gratitude. Tonight: Indulge a little.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★★ You have the energy and wherewithal to nail down a situation to your liking. Others appreciate you including them, yet a respected individual could push too hard to have you follow his or her way of doing things. Communication soars. Tonight: Enjoy the music.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★★ Much is going on beyond the obvious. You sense this fact and pull back. Your decision shows an innate wisdom, and in the long run, it will help. Zero in on your observation skills. Detach as much as possible. Tonight: Take some much-needed personal time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★★ A meeting makes you more aware of a potential goal. Is this goal realistic? Conversations point to many different opinions. You discover that someone has a more direct path to the same end. Together, you will make quite the team. Tonight: Early to bed.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★★ Someone's leadership might be OK with you but not with another person you care a lot about. You could be between a rock and a hard place. You probably need to focus on your goals and priorities. Tonight: Rent some movies.

>> MOVIE REVIEW

'John Carter' of Virginia – and Mars!

Before there was George Lucas and "Star Wars," and before there was James Cameron and "Avatar," there was Edgar Rice Burroughs and "John Carter of Mars" and a series of successful books. Most people remember Burroughs as the creator of the Tarzan tales. Now, "John Carter" comes to the screen in a bold, lavish production that certainly starts this year's movie calendar with a splash of epic content. Unfortunately, there is little original in this fantasy film.

John Carter (Taylor Kitsch, of TV's "Friday Night Lights") was a hot-tempered, but brave, Civil War veteran when he discovered gold in a desolate cavern. He went in but didn't come out. Finding an exotic amulet with a strange creature, he picks it up and is instantly transported to our sister planet, a war-torn Mars, or Barsoom as it is known by its inhabitants. Carter soon adapts to the low gravity of Mars which allows him to have almost 'super' powers. This war-weary, former military captain becomes reluctantly embroiled in a conflict of epic proportions among the inhabitants of the planet, including Tars Tarkas (Willem Dafoe) and the captivating Princess Dejah

FRED ALLEN

>> ALLEN'S ALLEY
Film and Play Reviews

Thoris (Lynn Collins). In a world on the brink of collapse, Carter rediscovers his humanity when he realizes that the survival of Barsoom and its people rest in his hands.

This classic novel's highly imaginative adventures have served as inspiration for many filmmakers — past and present. Since we have experienced the future in many sci-fi movies, this excursion into a past age may seem a little old-fashioned, but what the movie makers have learned is turned loose in a spectacle of battle and eye candy which have found the correct balance of fun, pacing, and story line. Some may find that there are too many characters to keep the good guys straight from the bad guys. This telling of the over-used hero saving the maiden is still exciting to look at, though; like cotton candy, it soon dissolves in your brain.

"John Carter" is only one of the many adventures in the Barsoom series, so if the audience attends, there is plenty of material to keep the franchise going for years. Young Kitsch will undoubtedly loosen up as the title character. The villains are numerous but effective. Especially creepy is Mark Strong as the mysterious Matai Shang, the generations-old mastermind behind the attempted conquest of Mars. We think of the love interest (Lynn Collins) as an Amazon who saves John, instead of vice versa. The John Carter storyline has inspired fantasy literature to the present and is still great entertainment — corny and touching..

Family Rating: A mild PG-13 for intense sequences of violence and action. Also featuring Samantha Morton, Thomas Haden Church, Ciaran Hinds, Dominic West, Bryan Cranston, and James Purefoy. Directed by Andrew Stanton. Musical score by Michael Giacchino. (2 hr. 12 min.)

A THOUSAND WORDS. [Unpreviewed]. Starring Eddie Murphy and Kerry Washington.

Family Rating: PG-13 for sexual situations including dialogue, language and some drug-related humor.

SILENT HOUSE. [Unpreviewed]. Elizabeth Olsen, Adam Trese.

Family Rating: Rated R for disturbing, violent content and terror.

Kid Scoop Together:

CHALLENGE YOURSELF!

Can you catch up with these Girl Scouts?

In 2010, the Boy Scouts of America _____ its 100th birthday. In 2012, Girl Scouts celebrate their 100th! There is a good _____ their birthdays are so close together. The founder of the Boy Scouts and the founder of the Girl Scouts were friends.

Scouting Gets Started

Colonel Robert Baden-Powell, a British military officer, came up with the idea of scouting as a way to show boys how to be good _____. His friend, Juliette Gordon Low, thought _____ was a great idea and she started a group for girls. At first, they were called Girl Guides.

First America, Then the World!

Juliette thought girls all over the world would enjoy being scouts. She left England and _____ for America, where she was raised. The first thing she did was to call upon a friend to help her start a Girl Guides group in Savannah, Ga. It was a big _____!

She then traveled from city to city, contacting friends she had met in her travels and _____ them in starting troops for girls. After that first year, she changed the name of the new _____ to Girl Scouts.

Making a Difference

In addition to learning skills, Juliette wanted her Girl Scouts to do service projects in their communities. When World War I began, Girl Scouts helped in hospitals and canteens.

After the war, Juliette's thoughts turned to maintaining world peace. "Why couldn't my Girl Scouts meet and understand girls from other countries?" she wondered.

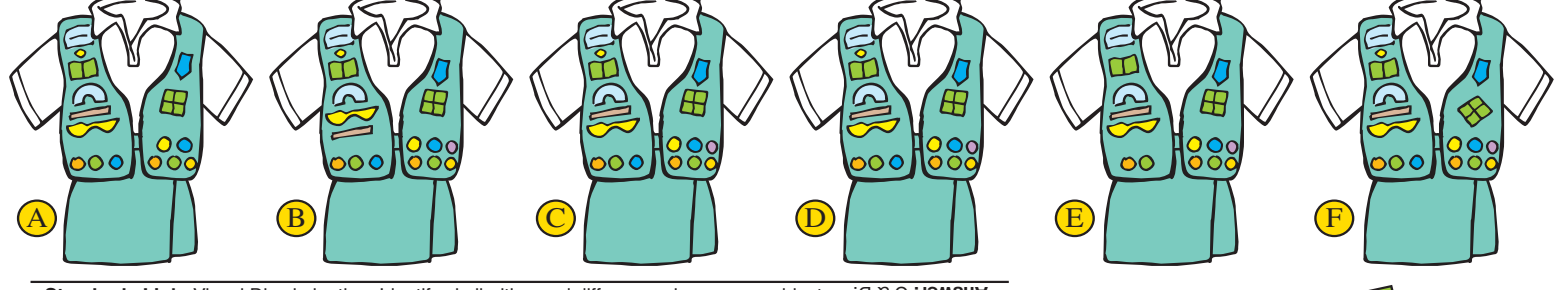

She set up "World Camps" where Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from all over the world could meet to promote peace and goodwill. That tradition still continues 100 years later!
